County Commissioner Contest

If this was a normal political year, you would be hearing a great deal about a sharp contest for Middlesex County Commissioner. The situation is just this: Charles C. Warren of Arlington is seeking renomination in the Republican primary on Sept. 15 and is opposed by Robert H. Adams, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen of Wakefield and Francis D. Collings of Everett. As far as I can judge, the latter is putting on a very quiet, personal campaign, utilizing his wide acquaintance in various non-political organizations. The real battle appears to many observers to be between Warren and Adams.

Now, the first question an uninformed voter would probably ask would be, "What is the attitude of Mr. Warren's two associates, Messrs. Nathaniel I. Bowditch of Framingham and Archibald R. Giroux of Lexington?" These three men constitute the Board of County Commissioners and their combined judgment of each other ought to mean something. The answer is that Mr. Giroux has already come out openly for Mr. Adams and Mr. Bowditch is doing likewise as this column is being written. Why? Apparently for a number of good reasons, including frequent procrastination in the handling of important county business, failure on Mr. Warren's part to sincerely co-operate in the war effort (as far as county matters are concerned) and what Mr. Giroux terms "rank hypocrisy" on the part of Mr. Warren, whose own campaign letter most certainly gives the impression that Mr. Warren has gone "all-out" for the war effort.

Another point to consider. One of the bad features of county government, in the writer's opinion at least, is the tendency to put in office men of advanced years, "who die, but never surrender." That is not the fault of the average voter; it is the fault of the so-called county ring, which is a perfect example of a self-perpetuating organization. You need a stout crow-bar to get inside the organization; once inside, you are usually safe for the balance of your life. Mr. Warren is well along in years and he has served fifteen years in the two branches of our Legislature. Consequently, one wonders just why his associates on the board are opposed to giving him a second term. May I suggest to my readers that they contact either Mr. Giroux or Mr. Bowditch and get first-hand information about their attitude.

Mr. Adams strikes your columnist as a sound liberal. He is relatively young—36 years of age—and he has had excellent experience in Wakefield, both in banking and in local government. Many prominent Republicans in Newton are supporting him, some publicly and some privately, either because they are themselves candidates for high office and cannot afford to get embroiled or because they are now holding high office and just naturally cannot be expected to mix in the contest.

This leads straight to my final observation. The county organization has many far-reaching tentacles and it is definitely feared by the average politician. It just isn't healthy to get in its way. It is barely possible that the great mass of voters may rise in their wrath some day and do their utmost to abolish the whole system of county government. Perhaps the word wrath is a bit strong. What I am really getting at is the question of "democracy" and the duplication of functions in connection with county government. It is also quite possible that a good deal of money might be saved if we did not have to support county officials as well as town, city and state officials. However, regardless of how my readers may feel about this matter, they will, presumably, agree with me that we must insist on rigid economy and the utmost efficiency in all phases of our government during these trying times.

Attention, Democrats

Realizing that my Democratic friends may read this comment with profound amusement and possibly with some suspicion, I now suggest to them that the nomination of Mayor Roger Putnam of Springfield for Governor would be a smart move. Kelly did, to be sure, defeat our present Governor in 1936, when the former was elected Lieutenant-Governor. I doubt if he would have a ghost of a

Newton Salvage Drive Planned For September

In co-operation with the nationwide effort to secure iron scrap so greatly needed to supply our steel mills, and other metals for war production needs, Newton starts tomorrow on an intensive drive to do its full part. This special campaign is not the initiation of Newton metal salvage effort. Huge collections of automobile and other iron and steel scrap have been moving through the junk yards since last April and before. This drive is for the special purpose of cleaning out the attics, cellars and back lots of every household in the city.

The street department will start the ball down the field by salvaging the abandoned gas-light posts which it is estimated will yield 21 tons of cast iron. Due to the fact that Newton is not a city of heavy industries, the amount of heavy iron available for salvage is relatively small. Every trolley rail was torn up and disposed of years ago. During the Spring, as a WPA project, a search of abandoned buildings was made and about four tons of metal secured.

As soon as the need became apparent, John D. Haughey, our street commissioner, was appointed salvage chairman and he immediately contacted the junk dealers of the city. According to the records of the State Salvage Committee at 17 Court st., Boston, these local dealers, in spite of price ceilings and labor shortage, have been doing a fine patriotic job. One yard alone has been turning over an average of about 120 tons a month since April.

Fuller directions will be issued next week as to best methods for co-operation in the drive. However, it is now clear that the following methods are practicable. They will save the city money and will assist our junk dealers in earning a livelihood.

1. For heavier pieces of metal like old automobiles, or 500-pound lots and up, call one of the larger dealers. For smaller lots, give them to your junk dealer on his regular rounds, or to your favorite charity. If, in doubt, call the Street Department at City Hall. They will advise you.

2. Do not call a junk dealer to make a special trip for small lots of salvage. It will cost the dealer more for gas than he will make, and they have to earn a living, the same as the rest of us.

The Newton Salvage Committee, in addition to the chairman, is as follows: Harold Young, Secretary to the Mayor; Haydn S. Pearson, principal of the Bigelow Junior High School; Rupert Thompson, Secretary, Newton Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. Barbara Goddard, wife of the Mayor, and Mrs. F. Britton Kennedy.

Arthur C. Dunmore Will Resign

Mayor Paul M. Goddard has announced the resignation of Arthur C. Dunmore from the board of trustees of the Couzens Industrial Fund. Mr. Dunmore resigned from the board because he has moved from Newton and is now residing at Longwood Towers, Brookline. He formerly lived at 74 Fountain st., West Newton.

Mayor Goddard paid high tribute to Mr. Dunmore, saying that under his direction the affairs of the fund had been administered admirably, that his service had been outstanding, and expressed regret at losing him as a member of the board.

A successor to Mr. Dunmore has not yet been selected. The other members of the board are Jams. A. Waters and Philip S. Jamieson.

Paramount and Newton Theatres In Opening Drive For War Bond Sales

Mr. William V. M. Fawcett, at microphone at West Newton Theatre as he inaugurated the theatre's participation in the drive of the Motion Picture Industry to sell one billion dollars in War Bonds during the month of September. Seated are Dr. J. M. J. Fawcett, Thelma Furbush and Edward A. Welch, manager of the theatre.

The Newton Theatre, West Newton, and The Paramount Theatre, Newton Corner, are co-operating with the motion picture industry which will unite with the War Savings Staff of the Treasury Department to take leadership in a billion dollar War Bond and Stamp drive in September, it was announced by Secretary Morgenthau. Just as the retailers of the nation gave impetus to the July Bond and Stamp drive, so will the motion picture industry act as the spearhead of the September offensive.

One spectacular feature of the month's drive will be some 300 bond rallies in as many cities, with Hollywood motion picture stars appearing in person. The largest concentration of touring stars used so far in the war effort will be thrown into the front line of the movie industry's September campaign. The Hollywood Victory Committee, at a meeting in California, announced the unanimous support of all stars, studios and producers.

The stars will not appear at theatres but at public mass meetings and factories in the interest of the Treasury Department Payroll Savings Plan.

In order to get the stars, each city is to pledge at least $1,000,000 in bond sales on the day of their visit. A total sale of at least $300,000,000 is the target.

Another phase of the drive that is expected to net millions in bond sales is a plan now being worked out by Treasury officials. Under this plan, many movie theatres will sell and deliver bonds to the patrons. This will enable the millions of moviegoers to make purchases and get immediate delivery of the bonds. The sale in movie theatres is a convenience to the working people who cannot get to banks during working hours. The movies will advertise: "Bonds While You Wait, Day and Night, Night and Day—Including Saturdays, Sundays and Holidays!"

At a meeting in New York last week, 8,154 movie theatres were represented by owners or heads of exhibitor organizations throughout the nation. They voted unanimously to undertake the role of "commandos" in the Treasury Department's billion dollar September effort. A budget was set up to underwrite expenses of touring stars and other items of the extensive campaign.

The drive will have a general title: "Salute To Our Heroes" month. The slogan will be "Buy a Bond to Honor Every Mother's Son in Service." Each buyer of a bond in a theatre will be given a postal card message to mail to his or her man in service. "I just bought a War Bond and was thinking of you," says part of the message.

Citizens of Newton!

Do you realize that nearly 3000 of your fellow citizens are now in your country's armed services and an additional 3000 may be added before war's end?

Do you appreciate the dangers and hardships they are courageously facing? Do you understand that by your presence at the Newton City Hall on the days of their departure to give all if necessary, will mean much to each man and help to fortify them for the grim task ahead?

Do you make it a point to be on hand at many future "send-offs"? Morale on the "Home Front" is one of the "Important" in this war. This can best be exemplified by a letter of appreciation received from one of Newton's sons who has since made the Supreme Sacrifice, the last line of which is, "Words cannot express my gratitude to the people of Newton, who have been so kind to me. I will always be proud to acclaim Newton as my home."

Citizens of Newton, awake! Be among those present when our boys start their Great Adventure, tell them by your presence that you wish them good luck, God's speed and a safe return.

Tin Salvage Drive Shows City Near To Making Quota

Three Hundred Pounds a Month per 1000 Population Now Sought By National and State Authorities

By ROBERT SPENCER

At the end of the first two weeks of the tin salvage drive the entire city has been covered and 10,150 pounds of prepared cans have been collected and shipped. This is at a monthly rate of 20,360 pounds a month. Three hundred pounds a month per 1000 population is the quota set by national and state salvage authorities. Newton's quota is therefore 21,000 pounds for its 70,000 people.

While the results make a very good showing for general comparison, careful study reveals the fact that only a small part of local people are yet giving full co-operation to the effort. The writer was extended the courtesy of a personal inspection tour in company with Street Commissioner John Haughey, who is also city chairman of all salvage work. At the incinerator on Elliot st. the city trucks were bringing in the prepared tin and dumping it into a trailer body and their bulk loads were being put through the furnace. The salvaged tin seemed well prepared for the most part, although there were a few cans not opened at the bottom and several large pieces covered with paint, so they cannot be determined. Mr. Haughey and I agreed that the salvage was 90% perfect.

The striking revelation, however, was not so good. More tin refuse was being turned in unprepared, and therefore put through the furnace with the rest of the rubbish. Tin and other metals and glass are raked from the furnace constantly and, after being cooled with water, are carted away to one of the field dumps. The refuse from the furnace was considerably more than the tin being turned in as salvage. According to the words of the Superintendent of the incinerator, "The women of the city who are sweeping their tin are doing a swell job, but only one of three housewives has yet waked up."

Predictions of the results of drives are useless and hazardous, yet the writer ventures to predict that by next month the amount of tin salvaged in Newton will make the set quota look like thirty cents. People are fast returning from their vacations. Of much greater importance is the house-to-house canvass now being started to contact every housewife in the city. Mrs. Barbara Goddard of Newton Centre and Mrs. F. Britton Kennedy of West Newton, co-chairmen of the Newton Woman's Division of Civilian Defense, have swung their organization behind the drive. This corps of workers, formed in April, 1941, has done yeoman service on several occasions and will doubtless give a top rate performance now. The village chairmen are as follows:

Chestnut Hill, Mrs. Thomas P. Beal.

Appeal Made For Volunteers For Nurse's Aid Corps
In their light blue and white uniforms, nurse's aides are becoming a familiar and welcome sight in civilian hospitals. Mrs. Robert W. Moore, Jr., chairman of the Newton Red Cross Nurse's Aid Corps, is appealing for local women to enroll for training in this volunteer group.
"In the Newton Chapter," said Mrs. Moore, "we have trained 78 nurse's aides since the program was organized in December, 1941. Our nurse's aides are serving in hospitals, as well as with members of the Newton District Nursing Association. The increasing shortage of registered nurses makes it essential that we train still greater numbers of nurse's aides to assist the overburdened nursing staff in the Newton Hospital."
Nurse's aides must be between the ages of 18 and 50. They must have a high school education, or its equivalent, meet certain physical requirements, serve without pay, and be on duty for a minimum of 150 hours each year, for four years.
The training required is a two-unit, 80-hour course, 45 hours of lectures and demonstrations of simple nursing procedures, and 45 hours of supervised practice in the wards of the Newton Hospital. In addition to the regular training course, aides must complete a 20-hour standard First-Aid Course within the first year.
A new class is to start the last week in September. Beginning Sept. 9, Mrs. Moore will be at the Newton Red Cross Chapter House, 21 Foster st., Newtonville, on Monday and Wednesday mornings, from 10 to 12, to interview applicants.
The other day, Thomas R. Feeney, of Newton Centre, caretaker of the Newton Red Cross Chapter House, asked for a few hours leave so that he could be with his two sons, home on furlough. He was urged to take more than just "a few hours," and there was a gala reunion in the Feeney household, for son Joseph was home just before going to camp in Nashville to train in the Army Air Corps, and young Gerald of the Navy was home between voyages.
Joseph, just turned 21, is a graduate of the Sacred Heart High School, where he was president of his third-year class, and was in his Junior year at Northampton University when he enlisted.
Gerald, a graduate of the Newton High School, joined the Navy just after his eighteenth birthday last March. He has seen duty, since then, in a North African port, on the mid-Atlantic, and in Scotland. A letter received from Scotland is indicative of the stuff our Navy is made of. He writes of the beauty of the country and then says, "Everyone treated us so well. I'd have liked to spend a few months over here. If we were on a corner looking around, someone would always come up and ask if we could help us." He then goes on to say, "I'm now in the Yeoman Division. I like it fine—everything is perfect." And he ends his letter by writing, "With everyone praying for me, I should stay a good boy."

Mr. Hermann, who was in his 74th year, was born in Brunswick, Germany. He came to the United States at the age of 21 after serving as a lieutenant in the German army. He became a citizen in 1900 and was one of the few men who have graduated from Wellesley college, having received his diploma from the Boston Normal School of Gymnastics, which is now the department of physical education of Wellesley college.

After studying at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, he served as assistant director of physical education from 1907 to 1909 in the Boston Public Schools and before coming to Newton in 1912 served as superintendent of playgrounds in Cambridge and Somerville.

He was for many years a colleague of Dr. Dudley A. Sargent, founder of the Sargent School of Physical Education and was appointed dean of that school when it was absorbed by Boston University in 1929. He retired as dean in 1939 and acted as director of the Sargent Summer camps. He also served as a lecturer at Harvard College.

He was a member of the Massachusetts State Guard and was a fellow of the American Physical Education Association. He was a member of the Massachusetts Civic League, the White House Conference on Child Welfare, and the National Education Association. He was chairman of the national committee on standardization of playgrounds and a member of the American College Physical Education Society, Massachusetts State Physical Education Directors Society and Phi Delta Kappa.

Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Flora Hermann, two sons, Augustus Hermann of Melrose, and Willis Hermann of Harvard; a daughter, Mrs. James Haggie of Lexington, and four grandchildren.

chance to do it a second time. Putnam, on the other hand, would make quite an appeal to liberal Republicans and to independents. Needless to state, my advice will be ignored!

Three Big Men

Keep an eye on Wendell L. Willkie, Herbert Hoover and Joseph P. Kennedy. None of these three outstanding men has been tied in loose with the war effort to date. It is a near-tragedy, public opinion should assert itself and force the President to draft them all. Willkie, of course, is about to make a visit to Russia and the Near East which may have far-reaching repercussions. Hoover, according to a well-known columnist, is being seriously considered for some post dealing with food administration. Fine. Let's hope it becomes an accomplished fact. Kennedy? What a tremendous help he could be in our vital ship-building effort. Everybody knows, of course, that Kennedy and the President no longer see eye to eye. Never mind. This is war. We must forget ordinary politics and put our whole heart and soul and strength into the successful prosecution of the biggest and toughest war in the memory of man.

Recreational Commissioner Wilson Stresses Need For Extension Here Of Adult Recreational Activities

Recreation Commissioner F. Ewing Wilson in his annual report to the Newton Recreation Commission states that there is a public demand for the extension of adult recreational activities in the city, in the form of neighborhood centres. Because of transportation difficulties, adult activities in the Newtons are on the increase, and a large number of the citizens are anxious to have the services of the recreation department expanded.

During the past year Commissioner Wilson states there have been no radical changes but there has been a gradual movement to a more rounded and complete program of activities, the greatest changes being in the direction of increased interest in neighborhood centres with more attention paid to youth and needs for children and adults in the various villages. Commenting on the cost of recreational activities carried on by the department Commissioner Wilson stated in a note to the taxpayers:

"You paid less than five cents in taxes for each time that you or any member of your family took advantage of any of the recreational facilities. About one and one-half cents of each tax dollar you paid during 1941 was spent for recreation; or, to put it in another way: if you own a $10,000 home, public recreation costs you $0.20; the per capita cost was $11.7. If you compare recreation costs in Newton with other cities, bear in mind that this is one of the few cities where maintenance cost is charged to the Recreation Department. In most cities labor and material costs for the upkeep of playgrounds are charged either to the Park or Public Works Department. If this plan were carried out in Newton, your recreation cost figures would appear to drop 45 per cent, but would merely be transferred to another department, leaving the cost to the taxpayer exactly the same."

Accompanying the report was a list of the various playgrounds and data regarding them as to area, facilities, equipment, service provided and improvements during the year of 1941. The summary of facilities includes:

34 recreation areas, 23 supervised playgrounds, 4 large undeveloped areas for future use; 3 bathing areas, 3 large skating areas, total of 40 acres; 4 small skating areas, total of 3 acres; 45 tennis courts (34 clay, 9 hard surface); 16 baseball diamonds; 28 softball or junior baseball fields; 16 fireplaces for picnic parties; 3 recreation buildings; 13 school buildings used for recreation; 5 small sanitary buildings. The Victory Playground at Nantum is listed as having an inadequate building for sanitary facilities and for storage.

A report by Mrs. Louis H. Marshall, chairman of the recreation commission, included in the annual report of the Recreation Department presented to Mayor Paul M. Goddard reads as follows:

"In a world so greatly distressed and bewildered, a sane kind of recreation gives the opportunity for holding our spirits steady. That is the kind our workers have tried to offer to adults and children. More than ever it has been necessary to strive to make our department helpful and healing to troubled minds, and to build the character of our young people upon a sure foundation to meet the future which will be so demanding of all."

MAYOR DENIES PERMIT FOR DANCE ON SUNDAY

Mayor Paul M. Goddard has denied a permit for a dance to be held at the Totem Pole, Norumbega Park, on Sunday, September 13, when employees of the Watertown Arsenal are to hold an outing at the park.

The application for the permit was made by the outing committee and Army officers attached to the Arsenal also called at the office of the Mayor and urged that he grant the permit, but were told that although the Mayor would like to grant the request, he could not do so without establishing a precedent. As the Arsenal is operating on a 24 hour schedule on week days it is impossible the committee stated to hold the outing on any other day than Sunday.

Liquor Industry Playing Important Part in War Effort

Frederick Collins, feature writer for Liberty Magazine, called to the attention of the public the important part that the liquor industry is playing in the nation's war efforts, in a recent article published by Liberty.

"If prohibition had continued in force up to the present war, and the plants for producing alcohol had not been built, we would be in the same helpless condition now as to gun powder that we are as to synthetic rubber, and the United States offensive would be indefinitely postponed," said Mr. Collins.

The alcohol turned out by the beverage distillers for the manufacture of smokeless powder was as important as the huge shells and bombs that had Tokyo and Berlin at their destination.

The well-equipped plants and the experienced workers in the liquor industry are now able to produce more than enough alcohol for government purposes. The government has given the distillers a quota of 200,000,000 gallons for 1943. To make certain that that amount will be available, the industry is devoting 90 per cent of its entire output for the manufacture of smokeless powder.

Practically all alcoholic beverages now being sold is being drawn from warehouses where huge amounts were stored for aging purposes. The liquor industry is working 100 per cent with the government in their victory efforts.

BOND SALE—

During June 15,000 motion picture theatres sold over $18,000,000 in bonds and stamps.

Secretary Morgenthau expressed himself as much pleased with the co-operation of the motion picture industry in the sale of War Savings Bonds and Stamps. "This September bond drive," he said, "is a continuation of the patriotic and unselfish support which the industry as a whole, and its celebrities and stars individually have consistently given in a wide variety of ways to the nation's war program. The September drive will aid greatly in all our communities in promoting war savings. The spirit and helpfulness of the industry is much appreciated by the Treasury."

BOWDITCH ENDORSES ADAMS

Boston, Sept. 2.—In a letter addressed to Archie R. Giroux, his fellow Commissioner, Nathaniel I. Bowditch of Framingham, Middlesex County Commissioner for the past sixteen years and present Chairman of the Board of Selectmen of the Wakefield Board of Selectmen, in his candidacy for the office of County Commissioner of Middlesex.

Criticizing the present incumbent seeking reelection, Mr. Bowditch said:

"For some time I have felt that Mr. Charles C. Warren, present Commissioner, has been a definite hindrance to County work. You and I agree that all problems should receive careful consideration, but if that consideration is repeatedly put off for one reason or another, the result is hindrance and delay."

"I have met Robert Adams, present Chairman of the Wakefield Board of Selectmen, who seeks to succeed Mr. Warren. I have also made a number of inquiries concerning Mr. Adams.

"You have already endorsed Robert Adams and I am glad to add my endorsement."

JUNK
needed for War

"What's it good for?"
"Guns, tanks, and maybe part of a plane"

In the attics and cellars of homes, in garages, tool sheds, and on farms, is a lot of Junk which is doing no good where it is, but which is needed at once to help smash the Japs and Nazis.

Scrap iron and steel, for example. Old radiators, lengths of pipe, refrigerators, garbage pails, broken garden tools...

It may be rusty, old "scrap" to you, but it is actually refined steel, with most impurities removed—and can be quickly melted with new metal in the form of pig iron to produce highest quality steel for our war machines.

Even in peacetime our Nation relied on scrap to provide about 50% of the raw material for steel. Now production of steel has gone up, up, UP, until today America is turning out as much steel as all the rest of the world combined.

But unless at least 6,000,000 additional tons of scrap steel is uncovered promptly, the full rate of production cannot be attained or increased; the necessary tanks, guns, and ships cannot be produced.

The rubber situation is also critical. In spite of the recent rubber drive, there is a continuing need for large quantities of scrap rubber. Also for other waste materials and metals like brass, copper, zinc, lead, and tin.

America needs your active assistance in rounding up these materials. The Junk which you collect is bought by industry from scrap dealers at established, government-controlled prices.

Will you help?
First—collect all your waste material and pile it up.

Then—sell it to a Junk dealer, give it to a charity, take it yourself to the nearest collection point, or get in touch with your Local Salvage Committee.

If you live on a farm, consult your County War Board or your farm implement dealer.

Throw YOUR scrap into the fight!

Only 15 Per Cent Vote Cast Here In Primary

Bowen Wins Easy Victory Over Morahan, Lundstrom

The number of Republican ballots cast was 4,398 and Democratic 1,119, a total of 5,517, or about 15 per cent of the total number of registered voters, which is 35,386.

The light vote that was cast was attributed to the fact that there were few contests on the ballot of purely local interest. The polls opened at 7 a. m. and closed at 8 p. m. The wardens and clerks at the polls served until the votes had been counted and the ballots had been delivered at City Hall, but the other election officers were relieved by a new shift as soon as the polls closed. The second shift of election officers performed the work of counting the votes.

That the women held the balance of voting power was evident from the fact that they exceeded the men in number by more than 2,000 on the voting lists. The advantage thus shifted sharply since last year, when the male voters exceeded the women on the voting lists by more than 2,000. The war was held largely responsible for the change.

Bowen Easily Wins Senatorial Nomination

In the Republican race for state senator from the Middlesex and Suffolk District, Benjamin J. Bowen polled 3,385 votes, while his opponents, Hans W. Lundstrom, with 59, and Thomas E. Morahan, with 88 votes, trailed far behind. Bowen was ostensibly the winner in the entire district.

In the contest for the Democratic nomination, in which they ran a race between themselves, Morahan turned the tables on Lundstrom, receiving 542 votes to Lundstrom's 186.

No Opposition

Representatives Douglass Francis and Margaret L. Spear were renominated by the Republicans without opposition in the Fifth Middlesex District, which consists of Wards 4, 5 and 6 of Newton. Mrs. Spear is a candidate for her second term. She is the wife of Ellis Spear, Jr., Boston patent lawyer, and they reside at 121 Bishopsgate rd., Newton Centre. Francis has served in the House for several terms. He is commissioner of police and fire auxiliaries in the Newton A. R. P. system.

Put Ban on Use of Chemical Fertilizer

Lawns, Flower Gardens and Golf Courses Hit by Ruling

The use of chemical nitrogen fertilizer for the lawn, flower gardens and golf courses was banned by the War Production Board this week, effective immediately, and its use for agriculture was restricted to the minimum formulas deemed necessary for basic food requirements.

The aim is to conserve nitrogen for necessary foods and for explosives, especially smokeless powder.

Coming under the complete ban are yards, cemeteries, golf courses, non-commercial plantings of flowers, shrubs and trees. Commercial florists and nurserymen may use it for propagation of trees, shrubs and flowers and for commercial cut flower sale, on their own establishments.

The new Government Restrictions on Chemical Nitrogen Fertilizers do not apply to any ALL-ORGANIC FERTILIZERS

is 100 per cent Organic

The nitrogen content of all-organic fertilizers must be at least 3%. MILORGANITE contains 6% Nitrogen, or twice the government minimum requirement.

MILORGANITE gives excellent results when applied between now and freezing to lawns, shrubs, trees and flower beds.

Noted Pianist Now Newton Resident

Add to the list of Newton celebrities the name of Nana Krieger (Mrs. Paul Geiringer), who recently moved to 11 Blake st., Newtonville. Mrs. Geiringer is of Hungarian origin. Her mother, a highly gifted musician herself, is a renowned piano teacher in London. Nana showed unmistakable signs of a very young girl. She had hardly learned to talk when she could sing whole parts from Mozart operas. At the age of 6 she became a student of the Royal Academy of Music, Budapest, the same institution that Eugene Ormandy, the celebrated conductor of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, comes from. At that time it was not easy to be accepted by the Academy, especially for such a small child who could not even reach the piano stool. After the first examination she became a favorite of the famous composer Ernst von Dohnanyi, then President of the Academy. At the age of 13, Nana came to Vienna, the Mecca of every musician, and continued her studies at the Academy of Music in the master-class under Mr. Paul Weingarten.

During these years of studies she appeared in various recitals; at 8 years she was acclaimed an infant prodigy. Soon afterwards she gave the first recital of her own which was so successful that it was followed by a long series of recitals in Austria and the neighboring countries. Miss Krieger showed the Graphic reporter an imposing book of recitals full of enthusiastic praises for the young pianist's outstanding technique and remarkable musicianship.

In later years Miss Krieger cultivated chamber music too. She joined forces with the well-known Weissgarber Quartet, which consisted of members of the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra. A renowned critic wrote about one of these performances: "In cooperation with these artists, Nana Krieger never loses her proper individuality; she is able to give the quartet the basic foundation of the piano part which is essential for this kind of chamber music."

She was also greatly in demand as an accompanist, and has accompanied such artists as Ella Flesch, Zina Alvers, Elisabeth Forini who asked her to study with them. She started out at an early age on her pedagogic career in Vienna, where she was the favorite teacher of numerous American girls who came to this musical metropolis. One of her pupils received the first prize in the Vienna Academy of Music.

Being married and mother of 2 children she has not had the opportunity during later years to devote as much time to her artistic career as to her activity as a teacher. In 1938 she followed her husband, a well-known Czechoslovakian Consulting Engineer, to England where he reestablished his business. Here Nana Krieger was active in supporting the war effort. She played in several recitals for the Red Cross in London and for her church in Sutton, Surrey, where she lived.

The activity of her husband brought her to Boston where Mr. Paul Geiringer is an engineer for a Boston firm of engineers. The Geiringers chose Newtonville as their home to be near their brother, Dr. Karl Geiringer, who is Professor at the Boston University College of Music. In Newton Mrs. Geiringer is convinced that she will find the same congenial atmosphere, to which she has been accustomed in Vienna before the hordes of Hitler destroyed everything of value and beauty in that beautiful town on the Danube. She hopes to reestablish her musical activity and feels sure, in view of her experience with American students, that she will be able to transmit to her pupils the spirit of musicality which she possesses in abundance.

Although she has hardly settled down yet, she has already started her work as teacher, singers' coach and partner in chamber music. She is delighted with the general musical standard she finds here. She thinks that the United States will become the musical Center of the world, because the recent influx of great musicians finds a fertile soil in the fine musical appreciation of the average American.

The GRAPHIC reporter left Mrs. Geiringer convinced that the art of this accomplished virtuoso will not only find response from the young of this community, but will particularly delight those whose previous musical education will enable them to enter the more highly cultivated spheres of musical appreciation, so necessary for the full enjoyment of life.

Premature Sounding of Siren Fails To Deter ARP Workers In Responding To Real Signal in Big Test

After scores of A. R. P. workers and hundreds of others were subjected to an "alarm test" by the premature wailing of sirens early Wednesday morning, the same persons and about 22,000 others were mobilized in earnest three hours later when the scheduled surprise air raid test and practice blackout were staged in District 5C, which includes Newton.

What officials termed a "misunderstanding" resulted in the sounding of the siren atop the city stable on Crafts st., Newtonville, shortly after 1 a. m. It was estimated that about 150 wardens and auxiliary policemen in Newton and many others in Watertown leaped out of their beds, dressed hastily and rushed to their posts of duty when the "false alarm" was sounded. It was reported that the alarm was heard as far as Boston College and warden also sprang into action.

The city employee who set the sirens in operation explained that he had received a telephone call from a man who said he was at fire alarm headquarters, ordering him to sound the alarm at once.

Alan Duff, village warden of Newtonville, after learning it was a false alarm, sent men around in cars to inform the wardens and auxiliary police of the fact.

At 4:10 a. m. the word for the anticipated test went out of the District Warning Center entirely without resort to the use of the telephone. It was relayed to the fire alarm headquarters of each city and town in the district by couriers and the fire departments in turn set the audible alarm systems for the "Green 1" signal in operation.

Takes 7 Minutes

The "Green 1" signal was reported to have been received in every city and town in the district within seven minutes after the word was sent out from the District Warning Center.

The test was made to ascertain the efficiency of the courier system of mobilizing the civilian defense

At the meeting of the Newton Board of Aldermen on Monday night it was voted to appropriate the sum of $1680 for the purchase of steel helmets for members of the auxiliary police department and the regular police department. Alderman Carl F. Schipper, chairman of the finance committee, stated that these helmets are necessary for the safety of the men in the event of an air raid and that if ordered now there is a better chance of obtaining delivery than if ordered later when they might not be as readily available.

For improvements in the ventilating system at Newton Fire Department headquarters the sum of $1,600 was appropriated. Chairman Schipper told the board that due to the fact that there are more persons in the building now, that the ARP report centre is located there, it is necessary to make the proposed changes in ventilation of the building.

The amount of $5,000 was appropriated for repairing tar sidewalks after Vice-President Joseph B. Jamieson spoke of the many claims which have come in because of accidental falls on sidewalks under "dim-out" conditions.

Another appropriation made by the Board was $230 for a temporary clerk in the water department to work on the filing of liens. It is the aim of the Water Department to have all delinquent bills paid by January 1 when the new system of sending out semi-annual water bills will go into effect, and if they are not paid by that time, liens will be filed against the property involved.

The board also passed the following appropriations:—
Street Dept., construction of sewer, Valentine st., Ward 3, $1,600.
Elevator inspection, $50 additional.

Care of police headquarters, deficit bill, $60.52.

Executive Dept., WPA Administration, for WPA Projects:

Painting and Building Repair Project, $2,500.
Cubbing Project, $2,000.

Law Dept., reimbursement to Patrolman John J. Mullen, on account of expenses incurred arising out of personal injuries received in a fall while trying door, $20.

A certificate of incorporation for the Open Church Association was granted to Lester C. Revoir of 73 Institution ave., Newton Centre.

Renewals of auctioneer licenses were granted to John T. Burns, 17 Hunnewell circle, Ward 7; Wilis B. Fellows, 66 Alexander rd., Ward 5; Charles Scipione, 146 Walnut st., Ward 2; Charles J. V. Scipione, Jr., 60 Concolor ave., Ward 1; William J. Stober, 39 Neholiden rd., Ward 5; and a license to deal in second hand articles.

titles was granted to Rose Avakian of 298 Washington st., Newton.

A hearing was held on the proposed order for the demolition or repair of a vacant house at 4 Terrace ave., Newton Highlands, which had been termed a "fire trap" and a health menace. Owners of the property were not present at the hearing and after a recess meeting the board unanimously adopted an order that the nuisance be abated by the removal of the structure within a period of seven days after the notice is served on the owners.

The following were drawn for jury service at the civil business session of the Superior Court in Cambridge:

Carl C. Davis, 35 Pulsifer st., Newtonville.
Leon D. Roys, 334 Otis st., West Newton.

Hammond G. Bailey, 63 Carl st., Newton Highlands.

Richard S. Willis, 115 Arnold rd., Oak Hill.

Michael J. Murphy, 336 Centre st., Newton.

Alfred Bevins, 58 Lombard st., Newton.

William W. Mathison, 299 Centre st., Newton, was drawn for civil business at the Superior Court in Lowell.

The following were drawn for jury service at criminal sessions at Cambridge:

Nelson Gay, 42 Hollis st., Newton.

Andrew E. Waters, 549 Centre st., Newton.

Levi H. Oxner, 336 Centre st., Newton.

A Lecture on Christian Science Entitled Christian Science: Its Simplicity

by Herbert W. Beck, C. S. B. of San Francisco, California

Member of the Board of Lectureship of
The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

A large interested audience at First Church of Christ, Scientist of Newton listened attentively on Monday evening to a lecture delivered by Herbert W. Beck, C. S. B., of San Francisco, California, who, under the auspices of the church, spoke on the subject "Christian Science: Its Simplicity." The lecturer was introduced by Mrs. Mary D. McKee, Second Reader, who said:

Dear Friends:
I recently read a diary belonging to a little girl of long ago. It was a very small book and had space for only three or four lines for each day's record. One particular entry held my attention. For the morning, there was this brave resolution, "I am going to try to be good all day, to speak no cross words, and to be good in my thoughts." For the evening, there was only the simple statement, "It is very hard to be good all day."

In these troublous times, many Christian people are finding it "hard to be good all day," for fear and doubt are continually trying to enter thought. But as Daniel found that the lion's den was a very safe place for him to be, just so Christian Science enables those who are afflicted with fear and doubt and deprivation to realize that, as the image and likeness of the Giver of all good, they have the daily manna which supplies their daily needs. They learn that they can experience harmony and peace of mind right where they are, and that it is possible to be good all day, for they cannot be separated from good because God, the source of their being, is good.

Our lecturer, Herbert W. Beck of San Francisco, California, is a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, and he will tell us about "Christian Science: Its Simplicity."

The lecturer spoke substantially as follows:

Christian Science has come to the world with its kindly, healing message to reassure us that the attainment of heaven now is not a vain hope but a present, demonstrable possibility. It lifts our gaze from the despair of material living to life divine to the realization of God's love for us and all that this love holds. This love of God is tender, thoughtful, ever capable of supplying our needs, always at hand to help when that help is prayerfully and honestly sought. True prayer goes forth in vain; it does not disappoint, but it brings to bear a fruitage that is most satisfying and sustaining.

Are you trying hard to understand Christian Science? Are you finding it difficult to know and to love God? Are some of you finding it impossible to be rid of sin, sickness, discouragement, lack, or loneliness? If so, you can turn with assurance to Christian Science, for it heals the sick, binds up the brokenhearted, brings peace in place of discord—truly it gives us a practical concept of what heaven really is.

Christian Science is not hard to understand. You will find it is simple, provided you are willing to give up preconceived ideas or opinions based upon an experience in evil, in disappointment, which come in the way of sickness or in frustration of your attempts to have and to know good. It is necessary to be willing to give up the old for a keen desire to accept the new concept. When the steam engine was invented and applied to what we now know as railroads, it met with much opposition. It was believed to carry evil spirits; that it would bring disaster upon the people, to the animals on the farms, and to the birds of the air; that sustained travel as ten miles an hour would bring death. But it is very plain that the new method could not be fitted into the old way of transportation, and people had to change over to the new way.

Therefore, the first step towards finding the simplicity of Christian Science is to have the mental pliability to approach the subject with an open thought, willing to accept its simple yet profound reasoning even if at first it appears contradictory to much which was formerly believed.

To approach the subject it is well to know how Christian Science is defined. In "Rudimentary Divine Science" (p. 1), Mary Baker Eddy, Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, defines it as "the law of God, the law of good, interpreting and demonstrating the divine Principle and rule of universal harmony."

Here we have the statement that the "law of good" is demonstrating universal harmony. And because harmony is universal, you are included within the blessing. It is not an extravagant statement to assert that you already know some of the results of the law of good; but to understand it, you do need the teaching of Christian Science, which makes the rough places plain to the honest inquirer.

The Christian world accepts the fact that God is the Giver of all good. At this moment He is giving you good so that you may awaken to what is true about yourself. The very fact that you are here is an indication that you desire to know more about God, more about yourself, so that you may turn from mortality and express your natural spiritual intelligence, wisdom, joy, energy, health. Christian Science reveals the almighty power of good to anyone who will accept and practice its teachings.

Perfect God and Perfect Man

All spiritual healing is based upon the understanding and acceptance of a perfect God and a perfect man. We know logically and by experience that like the human body, Jesus referred to this truth when he said "Ye shall know them by their fruits. Do men gather grapes of thorns, or figs of thistles?" The vegetable is not produced from the animal, nor the animal from the mineral. Whether you accept the fact or not, God is absolutely perfect and is the only creator in the universe. If we start with God as the only creator, entirely good in every way, and remember that "like produces like," we have, consequently, a perfect God and perfect creation. This we accept the statement of Mrs. Eddy in the textbook which she has given to the world entitled "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," which reads (p. 259): "The Christlike understanding of scientific being and divine healing includes a perfect Principle and idea, perfect God and perfect man, as the basis of thought and demonstration." The investigator of Christian Science might almost wonder at this statement. What—a perfect man? And he makes this exclamation because he believes man to be mortal, basing his concept upon what he thinks he is and what his neighbor seems to be. Right here he may be assured that the man he has in thought is not the image and likeness of God.

The Bible records in the first chapter of Genesis that God made man in His image and likeness. This is more than an idle statement or just a poetic one. It is a fixed, scientific fact, and this man has remained perfect as he was created. This is natural, for if God's man could fall from perfection, then there must be something weak or defective about man. And if the real man, the likeness of God, is defective or possible of imperfection, then God must be defective, which, of course, is untenable.

Speaking of man, God's image, it is well to realize how wonderful man is. "Think what it means to be the likeness of God. As you do so, you will realize that evil is not involved in him; that wonder: that the only thing man can have is good; that he is far above the reach of ignorance, sin, sickness, or death, for he is one with his Father. As we see man as the reflection of God, we realize God's goodness and love to His creation, and we honor God's almighty and man's perfection. In doing so, we find that man is fully equipped with spiritual qualities. There is nothing lacking in this equipment. But mortal mind or the carnal mind, to use St. Paul's statement, tries to convince us that we are failures; that we cannot succeed, or even if we do, it will not bring happiness. From a mortal standpoint, man is as transient as the grass of the field; but as God's likeness, he is wonderful, lacking in no good thing.

Hold firmly to the truth that God made you perfect and keeps you so. Know it is true and deny the evidence that the sickness is real, and so be blessed by a healing.

Christian Science Is Practical

Christian Science is practical, because it heals, reforms, blesses. This is a practical age, and the value of a teaching is usually given in a practical test. Christian Science welcomes such a test. Its teachings are not only beautiful but are possible of proof. The results of the practice of Christian Science are on every hand for you to investigate if you will only do so. Diseases frequently classified as incurable are healed, and those persons healed are soon able through the study of scientific Christianity to help themselves and others. That this healing is for all is proved when through prayerful reading of Science and Health an understanding of the Bible is obtained which enables a student to follow the Master's instruction to reform the sinner and heal the sick. Please be assured that the ability to heal is not for a certain class; neither is there any inside knowledge for the initiated. Christian Science is divine law understandingly applied in destroying sin, healing the sick, and giving us protection from evil. It comes to the world's assistance to lift consciousness from a false sense of reality to a right, practical understanding of that which is truly real and eternal.

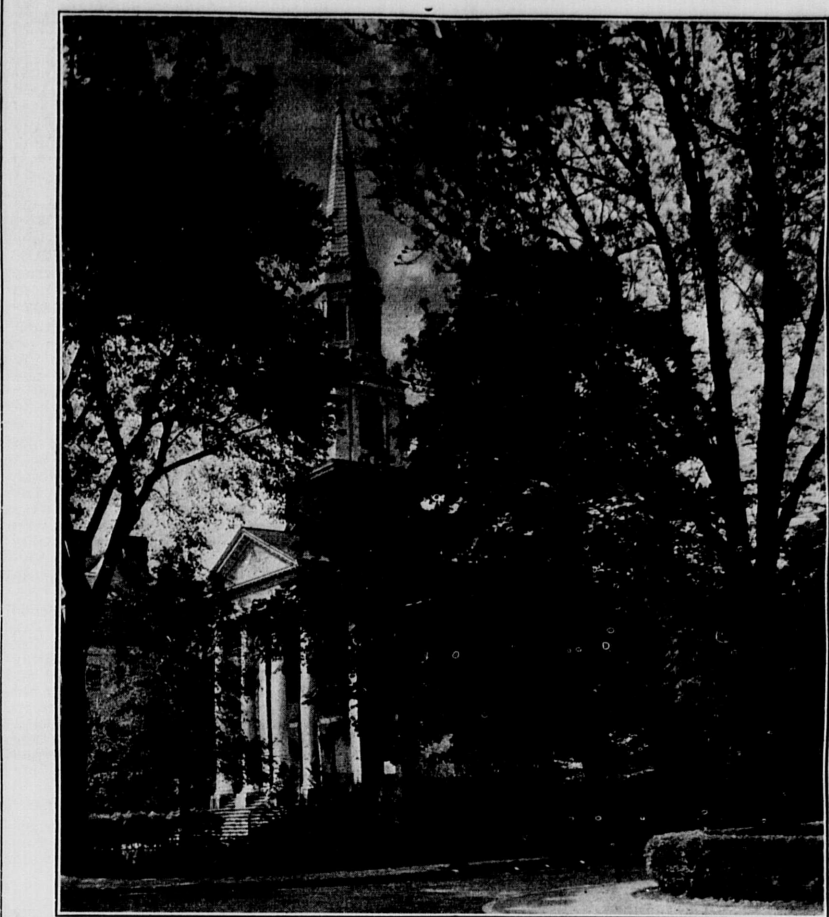

How Is Christian Science Applied?

The question naturally arises as to how Christian Science is applied. The question is one of great importance, for one experiencing or seeing the results may well ask how it is done. Perhaps if we take to heart the words of the Master, "I will be to the ruler through which the correction is made possible. Likewise, any evil, any distress, may be considered as a mistake in living, for the rules of divine Principle, which Christian Science reveals as God, have not been correctly applied.

If you will understandingly affirm with confident assurance that you are God's likeness, that you are spiritually perfect and that sickness has no power, no life, no reality, you will experience a Christian Science healing. This healing is accomplished through an intelligent application of the truth about God and man. Truth is omnipotent, and as you establish a connection with this power, there follows what the Master said would happen, "the truth shall make you free." If after using this simple rule of affirmation regarding God's almighty and man's perfection and the consequent denial of error as having any reality, the sickness disappears, what are you going to think about it? Will you not begin to investigate and use over and over again the divine rule which works, which heals? Do not scoff at this method of healing, for it has been applied and proved practical by many thousands of persons. Why not honestly test this simple method?

Spiritual Healing

To many persons Christian Science is a very new and strange agency. That it is applied Christianity does not seem to have occurred to them. But those who have been healed have later, through an awakened thought, found that spiritual healing dominated their experience. It is well to understand that in Christian Science healing we do not primarily seek to heal the body but to change or spiritualize the thought. Truly it is the sick actually which is corrected rather than a sick body.

THE FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST,

It is well to realize that we are thinking all the time, either good or evil; we are constantly thinking. We think our living; we think our business; we think our friends; we think our health; and of course, there is nothing so far as we are concerned that is outside of that of which we are conscious. So it is well to control our thoughts to control our actions. If we make much of evil, we will in all likelihood have much of evil; if we make much of good and demonstrate its law, we will find much of good. Our conclusions—our reactions—control us unless there is a cross-current of another conclusion which would offset the effects of the first one. In Science and Health (p. 392) we find this statement, "Your decisions will master you, whichever direction they take."

To control our thoughts we need the consciousness of good, the mind which was also in Christ Jesus. As we conform our thinking so that we become Christlike, the threats of evil and of dire forebodings reach us less and less, and our living becomes happier. The lack of health, of supply of good, begins to fade away, for we are making our demonstration that good is the only real power.

Treatment in Christian Science is truly an awakening process. It awakens one to that which is true about man, to that which is true of his real self, and as he becomes conscious of what he is, naturally he makes use of it. This may be illustrated as follows:

Suppose you are on the street and a man approaches, asking for alms. He stands before you in rags, expressing extreme poverty. He tells you something of his story, but while he is doing so you recognize him as an old acquaintance. Thereupon you tell him that a certain bank has been searching for him for years, because they hold in trust for him an enormous fortune. He goes on, but you refuse to find him the information he seeks.

Now the first point: Did you make him rich? Did you even give him a nickel? Or did you tell him of what he already had, and he found it true? Even so Christian Science applies the law of the human mind, tells of the riches which belong to the image of God; thought is awakened, and this statement is found to be true, and the law of abundance of good is demonstrated for the benefit of that individual.

But you may say: That all sounds interesting, but how about my troubles? Let us return to the individual when he spoke to you, standing before you in rags with testimony to the world that he was poverty-stricken. Were the man's ignorance in any way change his inheritance? The answer, of course, must be "No." And so regarding any sickness or trouble, be assured that these troubles are so many mental rags falsifying as to your real spiritual status. Why not go to the bank of Spirit and see what he has as God's image and likeness? And as you find some of the truth about God and yourself, make use of it and see evil destroyed. The Apostle Paul said: "Be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God."

As to the band of lawless suggestions seen as sin, sickness, discouragement, and the like, know that each one is destroyed by the persistent and intelligent declaration and proof of the spiritual facts about the real man, as to what he is and what he can do. Man can express only infinite God, good; he can only magnify good. And with this recognition, the student of Christian Science is awake to the subtle suggestions of evil and is capable of destroying his wrong concept of power. This is done by scientifically knowing what constitutes power. Realize that you are God's man. Never forget it; never doubt it. Rejoice many times a day that you know God and love Him; that you represent Him, and so express the needed intelligence and power to overcome evil. And above all, know that God is aware of you, loves you, and keeps you safe.

In the practice of Christian Science, we handle error. What is meant by handling error? It is to challenge, to expose and discard the claims of evil that it possesses reality, power, or life. If evil were eternal, it would necessarily come from God, the only creator, but this we know to be impossible, for God is Love and gives only good. Each erroneous condition presenting itself should be exposed and proved unreal, or it will handle us. Mortal mind intellectually will never scientifically uncover or properly destroy error. Spiritual understanding alone can do it successfully. Error should be handled quickly, decisively, and cast out of consciousness by God's law of good.

The healing which comes through the ministrations of Christian Science is the result of the mothering love which God has for us. This love covers us with the best robe of protection, and there is the ring of sonship for our finger and the prepared feast of His bounty for us to enjoy.

Destruction of Sin

The nature of sin, its unreality, must be known if its effects are to be scientifically destroyed. All wrong desire is based upon sin, which would insist that man is physical. Sin is only a supposition, though it claims to be real, as real as an expression or emanation of God. It is a cross-current of another conclusion which would offset the effects of the first one. In Science and Health (p. 392) we find this statement, "Your decisions will master you, whichever direction they take."

Suppose you are on the street and a man approaches, asking for alms. He stands before you in rags, expressing extreme poverty. He tells you something of his story, but while he is doing so you recognize him as an old acquaintance. Error Only Ignorance

anna teaching, simply mouthing the words that everything is good and that there is no evil. We are not taught to ignore evil but to destroy it by proving its complete impotency. It is true that good is the only power in the universe, but as long as we are controlled by ignorance there will be evil to uncover, to deny, to reject, to destroy. It is stated in Science and Health (p. 542): "Let Truth uncover and destroy error in God's own way, and let human justice pattern the divine." Mind you, it says let Truth do the uncovering, not human endeavor. Much anguish has been experienced by the attempt to find error in someone instead of endeavoring to find good. Through the application of Christian Science we are able to uncover error, but the real task is to prove its unreality, and this calls for wisdom and spiritual understanding on the part of the Christian Scientist, whether he is working for himself or for someone else.

It may be asked, Where did evil come from? One could answer that question if he could tell where ignorance comes from. We again refer to the Christian Science textbook (p. 390), which declares: "It is our ignorance of God, the divine Principle, which produces apparent discord, and the right understanding of Him restores harmony." Ignorance, then, is the only thing to be rid of, and this you are doing every day. You are constantly finding out things you did not know a short time before, and what happens to the ignorance? It is destroyed. Assuredly not. You simply accept a fact which destroys ignorance about that fact. So in working out the problem of life, you are shown the way through Christian Science. This is a definite understanding of divine Principle and to discover the ease with which you may make use of that Principle in destroying the ignorance which is holding mankind in the depths of darkness.

Straight and Narrow Way

There is only one way to heaven, and that is the way the Master showed us and which Christian Science enables us to demonstrate. The straight and narrow way is the one approved of God. This way is limited and narrow to mortal mind, because it does not permit indulgence in sin, sickness, and death; yet while it appears narrow, it is as broad as infinity itself, as wide as a boundless sea. It is true, straight, because it is the accurate, scientific demonstration of divine Principle. The so-called broad way is a mesmeric and uncertain path, the way of mortal mind's choosing. To selfishness, the Christian Scientist seems to be one of hardships, of turmoil and evil—all that is contrary to the luring pleasures which tempt one to abide in the so-called broad way which the Master told us leads to disaster.

Within the Christ-way bud and blossom the realities of happiness, peace, and plenty. There is, there can be, no evil within the straight way of spirituality. Because this way is the demonstration of God's almighty, harmony may be the only experience within this path. Mankind, however, has vexing troubles, and these very troubles should and ultimately will drive everyone out of the broad way into the realization that there is only one way of life, that life, and it is given in Christian Science. Our demonstration or use of Christian Science is to know that the real man, our real selfhood, is within the realm of good; that his capacity is infinite, his scope and activity boundless in expressing God. The path to heaven is the demonstration that man is in heaven now. The real man need not enter the straight and narrow way; he is within it now.

Several years ago a young man called upon a Christian Science practitioner and told of his difficulties. He had been educated as an engineer in one of the best colleges in the country. He had been in The Mother Church Sunday School until he was twenty, but he had drifted away from Christian Science because of his idea of its seeming narrowness. Christian Scientists do not believe in using tobacco, and to him this was very narrow. There were other similar things, too, about which he complained. After he had expressed his views, the practitioner said to him: "You have told me that as an engineer you worked upon one of the largest bridges in the world and that it is a marvelous engineering achievement. Now suppose one day the engineers had said, 'We are tired and weary of building this bridge according to plans and specifications; let us be broad engineers and build the bridge accordingly.' The young man exclaimed, 'Why, the bridge would have fallen.' Then his attention was called to the fact that his bridge of life had nearly fallen. He was penniless, out of work, had a wife and children to support. He did not know what to do. He had endeavored to live Christian Science in a broad way, and it had led him towards destruction. He evidently saw the point, because some months later he met the practitioner and told him that he had not used tobacco since leaving his office, that he had a temporary position before the day was over, and that in two weeks he had a permanent one as an engineer. He further stated, "I am living my life as an engineer in Christian Science, for I am learning 'precept must be upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little, and there a little.' He is today an earnest Christian Scientist.

The Two Textbooks

The Christian Scientist has two textbooks—the Bible and "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. The latter opens the hidden truths of the Scriptures so that one understands the divine Principle back of all reality, and the earnest student finds health, happiness, and well-being for himself and others. The Master revealed as a new book. It becomes, as it were, a book which had never been studied before. Instead of accepting some of its truths as applicable to another age, he finds all of them usable in his own age. The Christian Science textbook is overturning and will continue to overturn the erroneous thinking of the world. Since the publication of Science and Health, many changes have come to pass, and the world is more generally accepted.

The Bible gives us the assurance that God "healeth all thy diseases." Do you believe this? If you do, why not let Him heal you of sickness as well as of sin? God, divine Love, will and can do so if you put your full trust in Him and not divide your allegiance between Spirit and matter. However, you may believe that the day of miracles is past. Did God say so, or can you find such a statement in the Bible? The Master instructed his disciples of any age or clime to do the work which he did. Remember he said, "These signs shall follow them that believe; if they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover." The ages have lost this power to heal by spiritual means, because the right hand has lost its hold on the sense of God. The right hand of God, and perhaps the left hand of effort has become indifferent to the way our Master healed and uplifted mankind. What tremendous loss to humanity! The very same Christ that destroys sin holds the power of healing. This is the natural result of his understanding that God's law supersedes all so-called physical law and phenomena. To the unimpaired, spiritual healing is unknown, and when it occurs, it may seem miraculous. But to the informed or to those understanding divine law, the result is a natural occurrence. It is easily seen, then, that understanding is needed, the spiritual understanding of God's law. Does all this sound ridiculous or possibly too good to be true? Why not give it a trial? If you do not succeed the first time, then take it as a challenge and try again. When you do succeed in making what is called a demonstration of the power of God, then, there will come into your experience a new vision of life, something which will grow and bless you always.

Mary Baker Eddy

It must be admitted that Christ Jesus knew what he was doing and the manner in which he did it. To suppose that he did his righteous work from any other basis than one of understanding of God and His law would be to stultify Christianity. He did not work blindly from instinct, but he saw clearly the beneficent effect following the application of divine Principle. Naturally, he endeavored to teach his apostles the truth back of his life-work, and his success in so doing was evidenced by the spread of the gospel of healing throughout the then civilized world. In time, the ability to use the divine law of healing was lost and had to be refound or restored.

Nearly eighty years ago a woman was lying stricken by an injury, supposedly with but a few hours to live. Calling for her Bible and asking to be left alone, she read of one of the healings recorded of the Master. In so doing she reached out and touched for herself the hem of Christ's garment. The result was so efficacious that she rose from her deathbed and showed herself to her friends healed of the injury. This woman was Mary Baker Eddy, and it was quite natural that she should feel she must know how she was healed. The Bible be- came more than ever her only guide

The fact of her healing was always a reassurance. The path between what she then knew of God, and the understanding of this healing Principle, she felt must be found and the way charted for others. She was successful in finding the reason for her healing, and her discovery was given to the world through her textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." Following her discovery, she fully tested its practical application in healing the sick and the sinful and in giving them an understanding of the Comforter. Seeing that her students could also heal by this divine method, proving the universality of Christian Science, she proceeded to found her church. During the years following her discovery she advanced from a locally known woman to one known all over the civilized world; from a woman loved only by her intimates to a woman loved and respected by millions.

Christian Scientists do not idolize Mrs. Eddy, but they are grateful with overflowing hearts for her wonderful revelation. Her place in history is secure. Much has been written for and against this good woman. Many false statements have been made concerning her and her works, but she has come into her own, and the false statements are falling away from the consciousness of her former critics.

It is well to study Mrs. Eddy's writings carefully and prayerfully. Her vision, unadulterated by human hypotheses, should be with us daily. We should strive to keep in touch with it, to have it always before us as a beacon light; and as we keep in touch with her thought, we shall succeed as she succeeded, and as Christian Scientists. Her leadership continues, and her counsel is vital to our growth and protection.

World Conditions

In this present time of world war and internal unrest, dissatisfaction with things as they are, one sometimes hears it said that Christianity has failed, that the world has had nineteen hundred years of it, and it is worse off than when the Master rode the hills of Judea. This statement is superficial, and it is based upon lack of understanding of what Christianity is. The world today is not suffering from the application of Christianity but from lack of it. TRUE SACRIFICE

Sacrifice can only be applied to one thing—life itself. In the 1917-1918 conflict it was customary to speak of the gallant men who died in battle as having made the "supreme sacrifice." Those also sacrificed who stood on the firing lines, those particularly who came back to their homes maimed in body and mind. The same is true in this war. There is no other sacrifice.

Why not strip ourselves of the pretense that we as individuals at home are making sacrifices without fighting. There is none in building tanks or ships or guns or planes at good wages or reasonable profits; none in the payment of high taxes when we still have homes to live and sleep in, and there is plenty to eat for everybody. Getting along with less gasoline or doing with less of anything does not mean sacrifice. Unfortunately many of us are smugly complacent and need to have this truth drilled into us.

We must wake up to realities, one of which is that the road we are traveling in this war is a rocky one, little stretches of smooth going but far greater stretches of the rough variety. We must learn to ignore our discomforts, of which we have had none as yet. Compulsory "do withouts" such as automobile tires, gas, etc., should be accepted gracefully without grumbling and thereby do our part to keep at a high level the "Home Front" morale. It is not our privilege to make the True Sacrifice, that supreme honor belongs only to those on the actual firing lines. Our duty, no matter how insignificant the task for which we volunteer or have assigned to us, is to give everything in our power to assure its fulfillment.

Let us at home forget the word sacrifice and by our unselfish efforts help to make fewer the SACRIFICES of our gallant men on the far-flung battlefronts who are risking their all that we may again take up our American way of life.

A CHEAP PRICE FOR FREEDOM

During the month of September, the people of the United States have been asked by the Motion Picture Industry, in co-operation with the Treasury Department, to buy one billion dollars in War Bonds.

One billion dollars—to build up our future purchasing power to meet post-war needs; to block the monetary inflation that threatens constantly; to help supply our Army, Navy and Air Force with the tools of ultimate victory!

It's a cheap price to pay for freedom!

POLITICS WITH COLOR

Election Results

Only 15% of the total vote, 5,517 out of a possible 35,386, took the trouble to go to the polls last Tuesday. This is about the most disgraceful showing we have ever made and it compares very unfavorably with our good neighbor, Brookline, which cast more than 25%. To be sure, there was a hot legislative contest there, as well as a battle for District Attorney. In Newton the chief interest seemed to stem from the County Commissioner fight, which reminded us all that the so-called County Ring still packs a punch. The personal changes from time to time but the system goes on forever. Apparently, the sheriff succeeded in convincing the majority of the voters that Warren was being unfairly attacked. Just why McElroy felt called upon to try to dictate I do not know and I have a hunch that he may have built up a wall for himself. After all, he is not sheriff by divine right; he, too, is the servant and not the master of the people. Incidentally, Mr. Adams was apparently given a lot of encouragement by important people in Newton who either voted for or at least did not deliver many votes. However, the Wakefield man is still young; a factor which invariably irritates the County Ring.

As anticipated, former Alderman Benjamin J. Bowen was elected to the seat of Messrs. Lundstrom and Morahan. Their combined vote was only 685 as compared with Bowen's 3,385. Rep. Patrick obtained 93 votes more than Alderman Rawson, as might be expected when a man has the magic phrase "candidate for re-nomination" after his name on the ballot.

The contest for State Treasurer failed to excite the voters of either sex, despite Sybil Holmes' extremely active campaign for many weeks. If the women as a whole had stuck by the Brookline entry, the result might have been different. As it was, Senator Curtis of the Back Bay defeated her about two to one. Perhaps the lady may glean a little comfort from the fact that she received more votes than her three other opponents combined.

Speaker Christian A. Herter of the House polished off his two challengers for the G.O.P. nomination for Congress in the new Tenth District. He had substantially the same margin as did Bowen in the State Senate race. Senator Lodge had less trouble with Crocker than some of us had anticipated. However, he is now up against fighting Joe Casey of Clinton, who will force him to get off his high-horse and answer pertinent questions. He has already antagonized the Junior Senator unmercifully and has threatened to carry the fight straight to Lodge.

The Democrats were smart in nominating Mayor Putnam of Springfield for Governor. Kelly would have been hopelessly outclassed by our popular Governor. Curiously enough, both the Governor and Putnam are Harvard graduates and members of the same class, if newspaper accounts are correct. The G.O.P. will now proceed to engage in a real struggle for the Governorship. Some of the leaders of the party will have to devote far more time to politics than they did prior to the primary.

There are two Buckleys and one Hurley on the Democratic ticket. Both are good names in the neighborhood and these men will garner a lot of votes on election day.

James M. Curley has triumphed again; this time at the expense of Congressman Thomas H. Eliot of Cambridge. The hope is that Eliot has probably been promised a nice position in Washington. The same holds true for Congressman Casey, assuming that Senator Lodge beats him.

Frank Brooks' splendid vote for renomination to the Governor's Council has cheered his many friends in this sector. He trounced his three opponents badly and will doubtless go on to victory in the November election.

KIWANIS CLUB

The weekly meeting of the Newton Kiwanis Club was conducted by 2nd Vice-President George Van Buskirk, as President Edward J. Pease and 1st Vice-President James B. Riggs were attending the district convention at Swampscott. There were 27 members present. The speaker of the day was Mr. Irving Appleby, who was introduced by Commissioner Wilfred Chagnon. Mr. Appleby's subject was "Theory vs Facts on First Aid to the Injured." Mr. Appleby is the author of the well known manual "How Well Do You Know Your First Aid," and many other articles. He is the manager of Magazine Beach and Gerry's Landing Beach, and in his work he handles as many as 750 reportable accidents a year.

It was a very instructive talk and was of great benefit to the civilian defense workers among the members of the club. "Ben Lewis reported the collection of $93 toward War Bonds.

LIONS CLUB

At the last meeting of the Newton Lions Club Edward J. Day spoke interestingly on Textiles. He explained the difference in fibres and the various processes used in producing fabrics. This interesting talk was illustrated with samples of products in their various stages.

At the meeting this week Rupert C. Thompson, secretary of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, will be the speaker.

By STUART CLOETE

Why should anyone buy War Bonds? There is no compulsion to buy them. There is no winter relief . . . no SS man standing outside the door saying, "Buy, or else." Nothing is at stake but the future of the country . . . perhaps of the World.

What then is a stamp or bond but a vote of confidence in ourselves? In our capacity to drive on, to break all opposition and then to reconstruct upon a new and better design, a world that will be different. A world of surplus instead of one of scarcity. But a bond is more than this. It is an investment. It is something of a miracle that freedom can be bought and that in addition it should pay a dividend of almost 3 per cent. And this is not all, bonds stand between us and the spiral of inflation which could engulf us more easily than any enemy outside our gates. For the first time in many years, demand backed by money exceeds supply, which normally equals demand, and even stimulates it by advertising and credit purchase plans. Are we to save money against the time when we may need it, or bid for the few consumer goods that are left against ourselves?

There is one more reason for buying bonds. The President, who is also the commander-in-chief, has asked us to do so.

Meanwhile . . . while we hesitate . . . while we complain of nominal hardships . . . men die . . . not only fighting men, but women and small children also. They die for a good cause. A good reason . . . for freedom. But we who are not dying must pay in time and money, or we shall find ourselves dishonored. The time is short. It passes . . . and having passed, is forever lost.

Men in France, in Poland, in Norway . . . men all over Europe are regretting time . . . are saying: "If only we had known."

But we do know. The writing is on the wall. Corregidor, Pearl Harbor, Singapore, Dunkirk, are not dreams. They are evil things that have happened, and now this evil approaches us. It lies in wait off our coasts.

Time is money . . . but money cannot buy time, nor bring dead men to life, nor purchase freedom once it is lost.

That is why we must buy bonds now . . . today and tomorrow, and the day after. Buy bonds until this thing is destroyed utterly . . . because time is not subject to manipulation . . . because the past is dead and the future mortgaged . . . because the world cannot live half free and half slave. Nor we, the free, allow the mortgage upon our freedom to be foreclosed. Failing now, we fail forever. Never before could so much be bought for so little. Never so much lost for the lack of a little.

The Fuel Situation In Newton

By Robert Spencer

So many conflicting releases have been issued by officials and others regarding the New England gas and fuel oil situation that the public cannot be blamed for being somewhat confused and over optimistic. Columnists and authors of special articles, writing with the best of intentions, but making what officials say have been misleading statements, have so far failed to clear up this confusion.

The following series of statements is an attempt to outline the known facts and tendencies which householders should bear clearly in mind in making their plans for winter heating. The general facts and figures, based largely upon studies made by the Services and Supplies Division of the Massachusetts Committee on Public Safety, show conclusively that the public is not yet aroused to the point where it is acting with sufficient energy to solve the fuel problem. There is no evidence at hand to show that householders in Newton have so far reacted very differently from the general pattern in the state and for New England as a whole.

1. Up to the time of the Atlantic coast submarine warfare, 95 per cent of all New England's petroleum supplies came by tankers from southern ports.

2. This tanker service is no longer in operation and officials in Washington say that they are out for the duration.

3. This has thrown nearly the entire burden on the railroads which have put into service all their idle tank cars and are switching cars from the Middle West to carry oil products to New England and the Middle Eastern states.

Orders and regulations governing petroleum supplies come from Washington officials. While carrying no official responsibility for the administration of these orders, the Division of Services and Supplies of the Massachusetts Committee on Public Safety is undertaking to cooperate in an educational campaign to inform the people as to what the situation is, especially as regards fuel supplies. The Division has recently made a survey of homes using oil heat. It has found that about 32 per cent of oil heated furnaces of the state are capable of conversion back to coal and half of this number still have their coal grates. It found that three per cent had already converted to coal and seven per cent more said they intended to do so.

5. In Newton it was found that five per cent intend to convert to coal, in addition to those who have already done so. Twenty-six per cent of those answering the questionnaire said their furnaces were capable of conversion to coal and about one half still have their old grates.

6. The number of oil tank cars coming into New England is improving, but no one knows the exact amount needed to meet demand under strict rationing of fuel oil. The one thing which is certain is that the rate at which oil is now arriving is far below the most intelligent estimates of the amount needed to keep the East comfortable this winter.

7. There is plenty of hard coal in the market now, though stove size is low. A mixture of nut and egg sizes is said to work equally well. The anthracite industry has announced that it will be able to produce sufficient hard coal to meet New England's needs.

8. Coal grates are better than wood grates because they can be kept going all night. Kentucky coal makes a satisfactory fuel for open grates. It is available.

9. Of Newton's 15,844 houses (each building counted as one unit regardless of the number of families housed), it is estimated that 40 per cent heat by coal, 2,500 heat by gas and the remainder normally heat by oil.

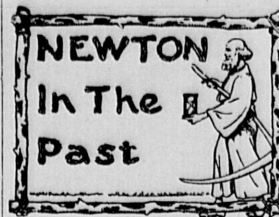

10. The city has no serious problem so far as the heating of public buildings is concerned. All school buildings and fire stations are heated by coal and all but two library buildings. The Police Station and two garages of the street department are heated by oil. The Board of Aldermen has authorized fuel contracts for the entire year. They have all been signed and the greater share of storage space has already been filled.

11. It has been possible to get new furnace grates all summer and still is, although some delay in delivery of orders has been experienced.

12. No attempt has been made to cover gas heating here because at the moment conditions do not seem to warrant discussion. Plans have already been made for gas rationing, should a serious shortage develop.

Truck Crashes; 40 Cans Milk Spilled

A milk truck driven by Harold B. DeLorie, 24, of 7 Burke Lane, Wellesley, tipped over, after crashing into a pole on the Worcester Turnpike about 5 a. m. last Thursday morning and 40 cans of milk containing 40 quarts each were spilled over the roadway. The truck had been proceeding in a westerly direction on the turnpike when a rear rim snapped off and the machine swerved to the left, crossing the grass reservation and then turning in the opposite direction ran into the pole. The driver was unhurt.

A swarm of bees invaded G. P. Atkins' store on Wednesday and settled in his window. There were about 200 of the invaders and they caused a lively commotion. A free use of Dalmatian powder disposed of most of them and the rest were caught on sticky flypaper.

A very desirable change appears to have been made in the entrance examinations to the High School and instead of having them so easy that all applicants can pass, they are so rigid that of the 30 who applied this fall only one passed, and he only on two subjects. If this policy is pursued, admission to the High School will mean as much as it used to.

NEWCOMERS' CLUB

Winners at the Dessert-bridge of the Newcomers' Club on last Friday were: Contract, Mrs. Frederic Starr, Mrs. Charles Conum, Mrs. W. W. Strobbeln, and Mrs. Thomas Lombard. Auction, Mrs. E. G. Bouchard and Mrs. L. A. Strong.

An eight pound leg of lamb, one pound of bacon and one pound of frankfurts were stolen from the car of Louis Tichnor, 176 Commonwealth ave., Chestnut Hill, on Saturday evening while the car was parked near 1229 Centre st., Newton Centre. The theft occurred between 6:20 and 6:40.

The Newton police received a report from Albert Troiani of 287 Washington st., Newton, that 12 gallons of gasoline had been stolen from his car while it was parked on Pearl Court after midnight Saturday.

A "C" gasoline ration book was reported to have been lost or stolen from his car somewhere between Newton and Rhode Island by Amos Landry of 21 Newtonville ave., Newton.

The Jenney Gasoline Station at 1305 Boylston st., Newton Highlands was broken into early Saturday morning, and $45 in cash taken. The thief gained entrance to the building by breaking the glass in a window. The theft occurred sometime between 2:30 a. m. when a police officer had inspected the premises and 7 a. m. when the attendant opened for business.

A break was also reported at the home of Helen R. Smith, 130 Lake ave., Newton Centre, where the cellar had been entered by thieves who broke the glass near a window catch. No effort had been made to force open the door leading from the cellar to the kitchen. As far as could be determined nothing had been stolen.

Anthony Pazasis of Dorchester was fined $5 in the Newton District Court on Saturday morning on a charge of speeding and Russell L. Langley of Waltham was fined a similar amount for failing to stop before entering a through way. Both men were due to answer charges in the Newton Court on September 17, but each came to court on Saturday and at their own request their cases were heard immediately.

Earl Parsons of 1039 Beacon st., Newton Centre, reported to the police last Thursday that a tire on his car had been punctured while the machine was parked in his yard sometime between 10:15 on the previous Monday night and 8:30 a. m. the following day.

On the same day the police received a report from Miss Lucille Jones of 52 Maple st., Newton, that three cars which had been parked in her yard were ransacked on Wednesday night but nothing had apparently been taken from them.

As a result of the investigation of a series of recent breaks the Newton Police Department is seeking a man about 20 years of age who had been seen near one of the places where a break occurred. He is described as being 5 ft. 11 inches tall, weighing 145 lbs., with black hair "slicked back." At the time he was seen he wore a gray suit but no hat.

Certificates for the purchase of two new tires were granted the Newton Police Department last Thursday by the Newton War Price and Rationing Board following a hearing given to Chief Michael T. Hughes on the matter. The tires are assigned to two cars of the Inspector's division, and therefore does not alter the situation for the cruising cars, as each new tire must be used on the car to which it is assigned by the rationing board.

The department had filed applications for 12 new tires but as the city's quota for the month was 21 tires and the regulations provide that more than 25 per cent of the quota may be allotted in any one week, the board had only five new tires to allot at the weekly meeting on Thursday. The other applications from the police department will be kept on file for consideration by the board in the future and will be granted when and if the quota warrants it.

Meanwhile the police department has been forced to curtail the use of cruising cars using one car instead of two on the day platoon, two instead of seven on the early night platoon and two instead of five on the late night platoon.

In the Newton District Court on Friday morning, Robert F. Morgarridge of 19 Boulevard rd., Wellesley, was fined $35 on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor. A charge of drunkenness was placed on file. He was arrested on the night of Aug. 25 after his car had struck a parked machine, at Boylston st. and Langley rd. Three young men who were seated in the car received minor injuries.

Joseph Eddy of 46 Hano st., Allston, was fined $20 on a charge of violating the speed law of 40 miles an hour.

A fine of $5 was imposed on Henry A. Perriello of Brighton for speeding and a charge of driving without a license was placed on file. Charges of speeding against Eugene A. Padumaine of Newton Highlands and John M. Maringhi of Dorchester were also placed on file.

For failing to stop before entering a through way fines of $5 each were imposed on Edmund W. Ogden, Jr., of West Newton, Ray A. Stevens of West Newton, Wilfred C. Esty of Newton Centre, Richard McElowney of Waltham and Fred B. Feltig of West Roxbury.

On charges of speeding fines of $5 each were imposed on John R. Brooks of Cambridge, Edward J. Johnson of Allston, William Hoppe of Wellesley, Joseph G. Herbert, Jr. of Framingham and John F. Flaherty of Brighton.

For passing a red light Kenneth H. Hanna of Natick was fined $5 and similar fines were imposed on Raymond W. Aldridge of Weymouth and Lyles L. Lamson for failing to stop at a flashing red light.

The locker room of the Charles River Country Club at 483 Dedham st., Newton Centre, was entered by a thief and $20 in cash stolen, also two wrist watches and a C gasoline ration book, according to a report received Sunday evening by the Newton police.

Charles W. Lyons of 36 Roslyn rd., Waban, reported that his wallet which contained two $10 bills, his gasoline ration book and auto license, was taken sometime between 6:30 and 6:50 p. m. while his trousers were hanging in the locker room of the club.

Two wrist watches were also reported as missing by Ralph Weland of Brighton and James Raynold of Brookline.

A strange man was reported to have been seen by employees in the locker room shortly before the theft occurred. He was described as being about 35 years of age, 5 feet 10 inches tall, of stocky build and was wearing a blue sweater.

Car Crash Injures Local Resident

Mrs. Ruth Canter, 36, of 12 Wachuset rd., Chestnut Hill, was injured when the car which she was driving collided with another car shortly before noon on Thursday on Commonwealth Avenue, Chestnut Hill, near Mt. Alvernia rd.

Mrs. Canter was driving west on Commonwealth ave. when the other car operated by Mrs. Francis Tomassello of 230 Pond st., Jamaica Plain came out of Mt. Alvernia rd. and struck Mrs. Canter's car, turning it around. She was removed from her car by Patrolmen Joseph B. Kelly, Patrick J. Burke and Thomas L. McEnaney and taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance where she was found to be suffering from injuries to her arm, shoulder and leg and a severe cut on her forehead.

The driver of the other car did not complain of any injuries.

Marine Hospital Patients Laud Gray Lady Corps

When Mrs. Fred G. Stritzinger, 3rd, chairman of the Newton Red Cross Gray Lady Corps at the Marine Hospital, said a cheery "good morning" the other day to one of her patients, he shyly handed her a piece of paper and said, "Ma'm, I wrote this for you and the other ladies."

"This" was the following poem which Philip Wold of Portland, Me., late merchant seaman, had penned to express his deep appreciation for the hours of cheer and comfort brought him by Mrs. Stritzinger and the members of her corps. Wold's boat was torpedoed in the north Atlantic several months ago. When he finally reached a hospital, it was found necessary to amputate both feet, so great was the damage caused by exposure. He cannot praise highly enough the skill and efficiency of the Red Cross nurses who cared for him at first. And now that he has been sent to convalesce at the Marine Hospital in Brighton, he is delighted to find Red Cross volunteers on hand to care for his wants. This is how Mr. Wold expresses it:

TO THE RED CROSS

What a sad world this would be For us men on land and sea Long the weary hours would pass If it was not for this lass.

With her Red Cross shining bright Facing danger day and night With a smile that's bright and cheery Bringing cheer to sick and weary. I just want to shout the praise Of Charming Ladies, who give their days For helping those who've come to grief Bringing gifts and quick relief.

On battlefield they're found In air raid shelters underground When floods come raging through There you find them it is true.

So I say God bless them all May their banner never fall And may our hand be never slow When their funds are getting low Private funeral services were held at Bangor, Maine, on Tuesday for Frederic W. Freeman, formerly of Newton, who was a former general manager of the Aetna Mills.

Mr. Freeman, who died on Saturday, September 12, in his 63rd year, was born in Newton, the son of Frederic W. and Harriet (Mowbray) Freeman. He was graduated from the Newton High School and Massachusetts Institute of Technology where he was an instructor in chemistry for a year before entering the wool business. About 15 years ago he founded the New England Guild, manufacturers of machine hooked rugs at Portland, Maine, and was president of the company until his retirement a month ago.

He is survived by two sons, Frederic Freeman, Jr., of Essex, Conn., Robert B. of Mill Valley, Cal., and two daughters, Mrs. John Dennison of Cape Elizabeth, Me., and Mrs. Abbott Farley of Portland, also by two sisters.

Quota of 15,410 Garments Given Local Red Cross

Mrs. Harry Morse, chairman of Production for the Newton Red Cross has announced the reopening of the Sewing Workrooms throughout the community. Newton Red Cross has just been given a quota of 15,410 garments to be made at the earliest possible moment, and volunteer workers are urged to report at their Village workrooms, which are operating on the following schedule:

Auburndale—Methodist Church, Wednesdays, Mrs. A. A. Brickett, chairman.

Chestnut Hill—Unitarian Church, Tuesdays and Fridays: Mrs. Karlton Percy, chairman.

Newton—Channing Church, Mondays—Mrs. Thomas F. Murray, chairman.

Newton Centre—Women's Club, Wednesdays—Mrs. S. Hardy Mitchell, chairman.

Newton Highlands—Sewing done at home—material obtained from Mrs. Perry Wood, chairman, 1 Bowdoin st., Bigelow 0881.

Newtonville—Women's Club, Wednesdays—Mrs. Frederick A. Tennant, chairman.

Waban—Union Church, Wednesdays—Mrs. Wellington Rindge, chairman.

Lower Falls—St. Mary's Parish House, Wednesdays—Mrs. Melbourne Hemen Sr., chairman.

In discussing details of this new quota, Mrs. Morse said that these 15,410 garments will require 39,269 yards of cloth. This yardage is shipped to Production headquarters at the Chapter House with specifications as to allowance for each garment, so that cutting can be done in the most economic fashion. After cutting, garments are assembled in bundles of five, and delivered to the workrooms by members of the Newton Motor Corps. Then, the garments are sewed, with such attention to detail of finishing and trimming, that the workers may well be proud of any garment bearing the Newton Chapter label.

In 1937 he won the Roche Traveling Scholarship for two years' study in Europe. He had also won in 1934 a scholarship to Fontainebleau, France, for the summer.

He is survived by his mother and two sisters, Mrs. Douglas R. Neilson and Miss Miriam Robb of Newtonville.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock in Forest Hills Cemetery Chapel.

An attempted burglary was reported to the police by Alphonse Laus of 101 Washington st., Newton, who on returning to his home on Saturday after being away since August 24, found that a screen door on his home had been ripped and the key had been pushed in on an inner door.

Mrs. Matthew Schwimmer of 420 Ward st., Newton Centre, reported that a screen of an open window at her home had been raised but the thief had evidently been frightened away before he gained entrance.

Rotary Club

Mr. A. P. Williams of the Colonial Beacon Oil Company, special representative of Boston, spoke to the Newton Rotary Club on September 14 at Brae Burn Country Club on the subject "Synthetic Rubber Development throughout the Country." The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey of which the Colonial Beacon Oil Company is the Northern Division, has gone on record regarding synthetic rubber, and here's their statement: "We do not care from what source synthetic rubber is obtained, whether from oil, coal, or grain so long as it does not interfere with the vital material necessary for war effort." The oil companies further say that for each dollar's worth of rubber used on the highways of the United States there is $15 dollars worth of petroleum products, service, and accessories.

Mr. Williams outlined the natural rubber supplies prior to Pearl Harbor and showed the necessity for early development of synthetic rubber, to supplement rapidly diminishing supplies of natural rubber. He mentioned the various uses for which synthetic rubber had been developed and stated that the development had been due to the need for a specialty product rather than for a tire rubber. He mentioned the various types of synthetic that were manufactured by different concerns, and outlined some of the uses for which they were adapted.

Synthetic rubber has been used with great success in the manufacture of self-sealing aviation gasoline tanks. He stressed the importance of Buna rubber as being particularly suited for tires, and stated that Germany has been using this particular type rubber for many years on their military equipment. He outlined the sources of synthetic rubber as far as raw materials were concerned, and told the amount of raw material that would be derived from grain.

He closed his talk with the admonition that all assembled must do everything in their power to conserve the present tires they now have and stated that those tires were built for an original service of 50,000 miles, and that this mileage could be obtained from the tires if they were rotated at 2500 mile intervals, inflated to the new war pressure of 3 to 5 pounds higher than normal, if speed was kept under 35 miles an hour, and proper care be given to the tires as breaks and cuts develop. He concluded with the statement that synthetic rubber experience of the past few months would indicate that synthetic rubber eventually would be much superior for tire use over natural rubber, and that due to developments along these lines the car owner would never again find himself in the very unhappy position of being at a loss for natural rubber.

Some of the Pleasantries must go

FOR THE DURATION

"SHE never should have opened that hand with a heart lead"—"Wasn't yesterday a terrible day?"—"Looks like a real offensive in the Pacific"—"I'll let June go to the Saturday night dance if your Carol can go with her"—"Did you get enough sugar for canning?"

These and a thousand other pleasantries make up the friendly pattern of American life. They are the subjects of many of the one hundred million telephone calls made every day. In normal times they are the life-blood of the telephone industry which employs 400,000 people.

In war time they hamper production and jeopardize security. For the switchboards over which these pleasantries pass are the ones over which go the orders and instructions for the building of ships, the transporting of troops, the dispatch of aircraft, the supplying of munitions of war, the functioning of civil and military authority.

Certainly, the interchange of friendly conversation helps morale, and there's room for a little of it on telephone lines and switchboards. But "little" is the word. If your own family exceeds that "little," you have an opportunity to speed war communications by cutting down on non-essential calling. Will you help?

JOHN M. BIERER

Chairman of the Newton Committee on Public Safety

"Everyone knows that this is a 'Total War'. Therefore Civilian Defense embraces all activities of the civilian population, and it will only be successful when every person is doing his or her full part." This sentiment was expressed recently by John M. Bierer of 98 Collins rd., Waban, the hard-hitting, thoroughgoing chairman of the Newton Committee on Public Safety.

Mr. Bierer was appointed chairman of the committee by Gov. Saltonstall in 1941 to succeed General Daniel Needham. Previous to his appointment Mr. Bierer had been vice chairman.

His pet hates are persons who in this struggle are indifferent and selfish, who give hypocritical lip service and then worry how they personally can have their conveniences and business as usual.

"White Pies," he calls them. Mr. Bierer's capabilities as organizer and leader are well known, but let's start with his personal history, which begins at Cedarville, Virginia, where he was born on March 3rd, 1888.

He attended Virginia Public Schools, Washington & Lee University, B. S. 1908 Civil Engineering, Massachusetts Institute of Technology B. S. 1910 Chemical Engineering.

On June 7, 1911, he started work at the Boston Woven Hose and Rubber Co. as a chemist. He is now Factory Manager and a director of the Company.

He married Ruth Coulter on June 14, 1913. The Biersers have 3 children, John C. Bierer, 28, whose last known address was the Aleutians; Ruth Elizabeth Bierer (Mrs. John B. Ward) 26; and James H. Bierer 24, who is now associated with an important defense industry in Brooklyn, N. Y.

All 3 children are Newton High School graduates. John and James also attended Washington and Lee University and Ruth went to Mt. Holyoke College.

Mr. Bierer is past chairman of the Rubber Division of the American Chemical Society; a Fellow of the Institution of the Rubber Industry of England. He is Past Treasurer, now a director of the Newton Community Chest, has been Scoutmaster. (Continued on page 4)

Alert Blacks Out Newton

Two unidentified planes flying 50 miles off shore near Plymouth, caused a blackout in Region 5 which includes Newton last Wednesday night. The planes, later identified as U. S. Army bombers off their course, were detected by radio locators.

Because of the nearness of the planes, the "yellow" signal given when enemy aircraft is detected at a distance, was omitted. The "Blue" or "Danger" signal was the first given. The sirens sounded at about a quarter to ten and the "All-Black" signal was given at about 10:10 p.m. All Newton residents were alerted in record-breaking time.

Declares Audible Signal System Works Well Here; Gives Public Instructions

"The fourteen towns in Civilian Defense Area V-C, including Newton have demonstrated the ability to mobilize A. R. P. services by audible alarm," declared Allen W. Rucker, Vice-President of Area V-C and Public Relations Officer, in discussing the surprise blackouts held September 8, and September 16. The use of the audible alarm to call the services to their posts was a distinct success. We need, however, to more fully acquaint the general public with the meaning of the three standard signals now in use."

The following precautions for the public are those necessary in event of an emergency:

1. Mobilization Signal: This signal is the first sounded and consists of two long blasts repeated at short intervals for approximately four minutes. This signal is authorized by the Newton War Warning Center when unidentified planes are within 150 miles. Sounding of this signal does NOT require a blackout or any interruption of normal traffic. It means only that A. R. P. services are being called to their posts as a precautionary measure.

2. Air Raid Signal: This is the second audible signal and consists of a two-minute series of short blasts on air raid sirens. This is the signal for a complete blackout at night of all street and house lighting; all street traffic should halt, pedestrians take cover, motorists park their cars at the curb and leave them and seek shelter. During daylight hours, the same precautions are to be observed with the exception of turning out lights.

Under some conditions, the blackout signal may be given by turning out street lights BEFORE sounding of the air raid alarm (second signal). In such an event all other lights will be put out and the blackout made effective. Should street lights remain out after the "all clear" is sounded, the blackout by householders should continue until street lights are again turned on.

3. "All Clear" Signal: This signal is a series of long blasts on sirens for a period of one minute; normal traffic then resumes. If street lights are not turned on when this signal is sounded, this means that the public should continue the blackout until street lights are turned on.

Mr. Rucker pointed out that all citizens should become familiar with the sound and coding of their own local signal horns and sirens in order not to be confused by signals from nearby towns. "By so doing," he said, "we can avoid overloading the telephone system with calls from citizens seeking information and keep the lines cleared for defense calls. Our Area V-C War Warning Center in Newton will promptly warn each Town of any impending danger. Town Report Centers will be equally as speedy in sounding the local mobilization and air raid alarms. The closely coordinated system of warning developed in AREA V-C assures that all citizens as well as A. R. P. services will have adequate time to take protective measures in event of an emergency."

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Hughes of Charles River rd., Watertown, have received notice from the British Broadcasting Corporation that their son, Capt. James F. Hughes, Jr., will participate in the program "Stars and Stripes in Britain" on Station WNBC next Sunday evening from 7:30 to 8 o'clock. Capt. Hughes formerly was employed with his father in the printing business at Newtonville.

Observe Sixtieth Anniversary of Business Firm

Jones Bros. Co., Inc., of Boston, Mass., and Barre, Vermont, one of the leading Granite Manufacturing and Quarrying companies of the United States, celebrated last Tuesday the 60th anniversary of the founding of the company by Seward W. Jones, 49 Columbus st., Newton Highlands and his brother, the late Marshall W. Jones.

SEWARD W. JONES

A dinner was given at the Brae Burn Country Club with Mr. Seward W. Jones as the honored guest and attended by about forty business associates and friends. Mr. Jones is president of the Newton Trust Co.

The speakers of the evening were M. Walker Jones, Toastmaster, Winchester; Stanley J. Sullivan, Philadelphia; Arthur K. Soule, Chicago; Frank L. Richardson, Newton.

A book entitled "Four Brothers" briefly records the activities of the company, the foreword of which states, "It is a story of plain people—a typical American family, offered to our friends, not as a record of achievement gained through special genius, but rather as exemplifying the truth of the statement that America was and is truly a land of opportunity for those who live and work in conscientious accord with plain, substantial American principles."

Mr. Jones was born in Ebersburg, Pa., Feb. 9, 1857, the son of Lieut. Hugh Jones and Eliza Evans. His father serving in Company C, 20th Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers, Army of the Potomac, was killed at the Battle of Fort Steadman in front of Petersburg, Virginia, in March 1865.

Shortly after the Civil War, the State of Pennsylvania opened schools for soldier's orphans and in 1868, Seward 11, Annie 13, and Dayton 9 entered the school at Cassville, Pa., each one remaining until 16 years of age.

In 1873 Seward Jones secured a position in the jewelry store of Chalmers T. Roberts, Ebersburg. He later became interested in telegraphy and in 1875 entered the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad and became telegraph operator at Gallitzin and Altoona, Pa. In 1877, he joined his brother, Marshall, who was then employed by William C. Townsend and Co. in the retail monumental business in Zanesville and was later put in charge of the Zanesville office.

In 1882 the two brothers entered into the wholesale monumental business for themselves. New England granite, chiefly Quincy, Mass. granite, was the best known, so they decided to locate near these granite centers. They rented a 10 x 12 foot office at 55 Kilby st., purchased a rolltop desk, a couple of chairs, an $8.50 coal stove and hung up their shingle on Sept. 22, 1882, as Jones Brothers, Wholesalers of American and Foreign Granite Monuments. Seward started on the road to sell, leaving Marshall to run the office and do the buying. At the end of 1884, business had more than doubled. In the fall of 1884 after becoming firmly established in dealing in American granite, the Jones Brothers opened a branch in Aberdeen, Scotland, where light pinkish colored granites was quarried. Later, deeper colored granite from Sweden, (Continued on page 4)

Start Removal of Unused Gas Poles

The Newton Street Department has started work on the removal of unused gas light poles which are to be used for war salvage. The poles which are being pulled out of the ground by means of a crane are being deposited for the present at the City yard on Crafts st. Each pole weighs about 300 pounds.

About 50 of these poles were ready to be removed but there are about 60 more which are still connected with the gas mains and these cannot be removed until disconnected by the gas company.

STAGGERED HOURS

A Community Plan for WAR-TIME TRANSPORTATION

Note also that by spreading the load, many cars, trains and buses will have time for two rush hour trips instead of one, thus increasing the amount of service available in the period of heaviest travel.

UNDER WAR CONDITIONS, "El" traffic has increased by a million and a half riders weekly as compared with a year ago.

Rush hour riding is now crowded and threatens to exceed the capacity of the "El."

To meet such situations, Joseph B. Eastman, Director of the Office of Defense Transportation in Washington, has asked large communities to adopt staggered hours as a war-time measure.

A plan for staggering the hours of some of the workers in central Boston is now ready. Changed hours of work will go into effect on Thursday, October 1, for employees of retail stores, insurance companies, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and the City of Boston. Some groups will go to work in the morning (and leave work in the afternoon) from 15 minutes to one hour earlier than at present; other groups will go to work (and leave work) 15 minutes or 30 minutes later than at present. Those affected will gain at one end of the day what they lose at the other. The hours of other workers are not changed.

Will the Present Plan be Extended?

Very likely. The present plan, affecting relatively few workers, will provide improved transportation now and in the near future. An extension of the present staggering plan would take care of further increased riding.

What is Meant by Staggered Hours?

Under the system of staggered hours, some persons will begin and end their working day earlier than at present, some at the same time, and some later.

What Will Staggered Hours Do?

The plan of staggered hours will provide improved transportation in the rush hours. It will reduce crowding by lowering the present peak load. It will spread the heavy riding over a longer period of time, permitting many trains, cars and buses to make two rush hour trips instead of one. Thus the equipment available can provide a greater amount of service when it is needed most.

How Will Staggered Hours Affect Me?

Beginning October 1, there will be a change in working hours for employees of retail stores, insurance companies, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and the City of Boston. Some groups will go to work in the morning (and leave work in the afternoon) from 15 minutes to one hour earlier than at present; other groups will go to work (and leave work) 15 minutes or 30 minutes later than at present. Those affected will gain at one end of the day what they lose at the other. The hours of other workers are not changed.

Nursery School Will Open

A cooperative nursery school, to be known as the Community Nursery School, will be opened at St. Mary's Church, Newton Lower Falls Monday, September 28.

Organized by parents living in the vicinity of the church, both in Newton Lower Falls and Wellesley Hills, it will be the first cooperative venture of this sort, so far as can be ascertained, attempted in this region. Non-sectarian and open to children between the ages of 2 and 5 years, the project fills a great need, especially now that transportation has been curtailed by gas rationing and the tire shortage.

The new parish house of St. Mary's is ideally suited for a community nursery school. Several rooms, a large indoor play space, an ideal shelter for possible air raids, and an outdoor playground have been offered by the church for the use of the school. Operation and control of the school is entirely in the hands of the organization, however, the church preferring to keep the school independent. Tuition will be based on the costs of running the school, each family who is a member sharing the expenses of teachers, equipment and a small contribution toward the heating and cleaning of the rooms.

There are still several openings in the enrollment. Parents of this locality who wish to enter children should communicate with the registrar, Mrs. Clyde F. Casady, 94 St. Mary's st., Newton Lower Falls.

LASELL JUNIOR COLLEGE

President Guy M. Winslow spoke at the first assembly of the student body on Monday morning, outlining some of the plans for the year.

Mrs. Lucy Sypher gave the first of her weekly lectures on current affairs at the Thursday assembly. On Friday morning the Executive Council officers, with Elizabeth McAvoy of Windsor, Conn., as president, explained the purpose of the Council to the new students.

New members of the faculty include:

Miss Barbara T. Ames, B.S., of Berlin, N. H., Science; Miss Jean Babcock, M.A., of Taunton, Mass., Latin and English; Miss Carolyn Craig, B.A., of Washington Court House, Ohio, Librarian; Miss Althea Foster, M.A., of Boston, Mass., Science; Miss Barbara Hildreth, B.S., of Westford, Mass., Science; Miss Mary Hughes, B.A., of Quincy, Mass., Modern Dancing; Miss Betty Schmidt, B.A., of Evanston, Ill., Design; Miss Helen Walsh, R.N., of West Newton, Mass., Nurse; Miss Margaret Woodward, M.A., West Roxbury, Mass., Science; Miss Lillian Wychnas, B.S., of Brockton, Mass., Secretarial Science.

DINNER PARTY FOR SERVICE MAN

A dinner party was tendered Everett P. Corkum, A. S., of 267 Church st., Newton, at the Davis Turkey Farm of South Sudbury, Mass. Twenty-five relatives and friends from Newton, Watertown and Somerville were there in honor of his departure from the United States with the Merchant Marines. He was presented with a wrist watch and money.

He enlisted in the Merchant Marines in June, 1942, and trained at Baltimore, Maryland, and Hoffmann Island, New York. He will leave in the near future.

Name Two Newton Men As Cost Accountants

Mr. Grandjean G. Jewett of 38 Wauwinett rd., West Newton, and Mr. Paul F. Swantee, of 16 Winnetka rd., Waban, have been named to the board of directors of the Boston Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants, according to the announcement of Mr. Norman H. S. Vincent, president of the Chapter, and likewise a Newton resident.

Mr. Jewett has been selected as chapter treasurer for the coming year and Mr. Swantee as program director. Both men have long been active in the affairs of the accounting organization.

Mr. Jewett was born in Westmoreland, New York, and educated in the public schools of Utica. He received his bachelor's degree from Hamilton College, in Clinton, New York. Coming to Massachusetts, he was for many years with the accounting firm of Lybrand, Ross Bros. and Montgomery. Mr. Jewett is a certified public accountant of the state of Massachusetts, and at present is an official of the Boston Edison Company. Last year he served the N. A. C. A. as director of publications.

Mr. Swantee is resident manager of the Boston office of Arthur Anderson Company. Following his graduation in 1920 from the Bentley School of Accounting and Finance, he studied law for two years at the Law School of Northeastern University. He commenced his public accounting career with Storer and Bishop and later joined the staff of Price, Waterhouse & Company, in Boston. Mr. Swantee has been associated with his present firm since 1925, with the exception of two years from 1930 to 1932, when he was treasurer of National Union Radio Corporation, of New York. Before his return to Boston in 1939, he was resident manager of the Andersen Company's office in Kansas City. Last year Mr. Swantee was director of membership of the Boston N. A. C. A. group.

Heating Plant Is Near Completion

The installation of a new heating and power plant at the Newton High School is well on the way toward completion. This plant which is being installed at a cost of $130,000 is located in the rear of the Technical High School and will furnish the power, light and heat for all three of the high school buildings.

In place of two of the old boilers a modern water tube boiler has been installed with an automatic stoker for burning bituminous coal and is already in operation. A second water tube boiler is under construction to take the place of the two other boilers which have been removed and a third boiler is on the premises and will soon be in operation.

Due to the war the installation of the auxiliaries and generating unit have been delayed but deliveries are promised by early Fall. The new plant when completed will not only save a substantial amount of fuel and electric power but will also provide reserve power to care for emergencies and additional growth.

On Sunday afternoon, Mrs. James Caine of Day st., West Newton, gave a delightful tea for her cousin, Miss Elizabeth Kneeland of Waban. Mrs. Frank Fitzgerald poured, assisted by Miss Barbara Caine. The lovely floral decorations were red, white and blue and small American flags, emphasizing the patriotic color scheme, gave added significance to the occasion.

Many relatives and friends were present to extend best wishes to Miss Kneeland and to present her with a United States War Bond, as she is leaving for Camp Edwards on Oct. 1st to take up her duties as a nurse in our country's army.

For several years Miss Kneeland has been a member of the Newton School nursing staff and has been stationed in the Newtonville district. Her pleasing personality and efficient services will be greatly missed by all those with whom she was associated.

Bible selections will include the following passage from Psalms 90: 16, 17: "Let thy work appear unto thy servants, and thy glory unto their children. And let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us; and establish thou the work of our hands upon us; yea, the work of our hands establish thou it."

One of the passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, included in the Lesson-Sermon, reads as follows: "Beauty is a thing of life, which dwells forever in the eternal Mind, and reflects the charms of His goodness in expression, form, outline, and color. It is Love which paints the petal with myriad hues, glances in the warm sunbeam, arches the cloud with the bow of beauty, blazons the night with starry gems, and covers earth with loveliness" (p. 247).

55 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, Sept. 10, 1887
All women who intend to vote for members of the school committee should register without delay.

The assessors have finished their labors, as many of the citizens have discovered, a large part of the tax bills having been already sent out. The list contains many interesting features, among which the following have been selected. The number of persons assessed in the city is 8,263; of whom 3,838 pay a poll tax only, 4,425 pay a tax on property, and of those who pay polls only 16 are women, which is a most deplorable showing for such a city as Newton. There are 1,771 taxed horses in the city; 1,017 cows, 3,856 dwelling houses and 9,879 acres of land.

A number of Newtonville young people went on a straw ride through the streets of this village Monday evening.

The West Newton English and classical school commences Wednesday, September 21.

We hope to see some of that $300 appropriated for trimming of trees expended on the corner of Lincoln and Bowdoin sts., Newton Highlands, before any more hats and bonnets of pedestrians are knocked off.

50 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, Sept. 9, 1892

It may be comforting to many of our citizens to know that in case there is an outbreak of cholera or of any other contagious disease in Newton, our hospital has such good provisions for taking care of patients.

Five thousand people visited Echo Bridge on Sunday and over 4,000 were there Labor Day. Every one of these persons had to pass through Ellis street and every one is a witness to its condition, which has been slightly improved by the few loads of stones and gravel dumped into the washed out holes.

A square in the rear of the High School building 100 x 250 feet has been leveled and concreted for drill purposes.

Mr. John McCammon of Newton opened his boot and shoe store in Plummer's block on Tuesday of this week. The store has been thoroughly refitted in excellent taste for his use. The forward part of the store contains ladies and gents fine shoes, while at the rear, an assortment of boys clothing and gents furnishing goods will be kept. A shop for making and repairing shoes will be connected. Mr. Robert Daley, who has been with Mr. McCammon in Newton for six years is in charge of the store.

25 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, Sept. 7, 1917
The month of September will be a busy one for the knitters of Newton. In addition to the 4,000 articles needed for the Red Cross, a call has come of special local interest. All Newton learned that America's first shot at a submarine was fired by one of our own "boys," Lieut. Bruce R. Ware. He is now navigator and gunnery officer on one of the German ships going into commission as an American transport, and the Newton women undertake the outfitting of the crew serving under Lieut. Ware. There is sentiment as well as patriotism in work of this kind.

The new bath house on the Allison Playground on the Charles River in Nonantum was finished last week by the contractors and was put into commission at once by the Playground Commission.

NEWTON LIONS CLUB

Dave Buxbaum, 1st vice president of the Newton Lions Club introduced Newton's No. 1 Booster, Rupert C. Thompson, secretary of the Newton Chamber of Commerce at the meeting last week. Speaking on Newton's Part in the Industrial War Effort, Mr. Thompson outlined the industrial history of the City, beginning as it did, some 200 years ago, when, because of its abundant water power, it was an ideal mill location. He spoke of the effect that the railroad entering Newton in 1850 had in establishing the community as a residential one and of the final swing to manufacturing once again in 1930, when new companies opened branches here because of the ideal labor conditions. Newton has never had any serious labor trouble, which speaks highly for both employee and employer.

The manufacturing area of the City is approximately 1.7 square miles, Mr. Thompson said, and there is still some available manufacturing sites, and one or two factories all ready for occupancy. At the present time, he continued, industries in the City are working day and night producing essential war goods, and employment and payrolls are at an all time high.

King Lion Ralph Sanguinetti announced that the next meeting of the Club would be a joint one with the Waltham Club who are visiting Newton. The speaker at this meeting will be Robert Walker, Chaplain at the State Reformatory in Concord. All those members not attending will be quizzed on the possibility of fear of being recognized.

Bequest Provides For Church Poor

The will of the late G. Alice Randlett, authoress, and former resident of Auburndale, who died on September 17, provides bequests for the poor of two Auburndale churches, the Church of the Messiah, and the Auburndale Congregational Church.

Bequests of $100 each were left to the above named churches, also to Trinity Church and the Church of the Advent, Boston, the Boston Seaman's Friend Society, and Boston Seaman's Club. Provision was also made for sums to be used for domestic and foreign missions of the Episcopal Church for missionary work in the Philippines and Alaska.

The will which was filed in the Suffolk Probate Court on Saturday disposes of funds and personal property totaling $60,000. $1000 is provided for a nephew, Louis Felix, who is also named as executor, and $500 for another nephew, Frederick J. Randlett. The residue of the estate will go to the two nephews.

This was made known by William G. O'Hare, executive director of the Boston Welfare Department, who for the second consecutive year is general chairman of The Army's appeal to seek funds to Keep the Home Front Strong.

Mr. Davis, long a member of the Greater Boston Advisory Board of The Salvation Army and especially interested in its war work activities because of the fine reports made to him by his son Paul as to Salvation Army service in World War I, is intent in his planning for the patriotic opening dinner. It will be held at the Boston Chamber of Commerce, at 6:15 on the evening of Tuesday, Sept. 29.

To this auspicious beginning of an effort, with $250,000 as the objective, Mr. Davis has invited Governor Leverett Saltonstall, Mayor Maurice J. Tobin, as well as leaders in Army, Navy and Labor circles.

If you need a Car you need a BUICK

...and if you really need a new car for essential work — you can get one!

AUTOMOBILE-BUYING regulations boil down to this:

If you really need a car—you can get one.

Necessity governs — and when necessary work can be done better by replacing an older car with a new one, both rationing rules and public policy encourage the buying of safer, more efficient, more dependable new models.

Get a car you can count on—get a car that will last—get a car that's tough and rugged and efficient enough to take long, tough punishment and come back for more.

This 1942 Buick is a car built from the ground up with the idea that it would have to serve, faithfully and well, over a far longer-than-usual service life.

TEST OF NEWTON DEMOCRACY

Dean Brown of Yale Theological School once said, "The most accurate measure of a man is what he will do for his fellowman when he knows that no one will ever learn of his act or give credit for it." The scrap metal drive affords such a character test for democracy in Newton. Few if any besides the immediate family concerned and the junk dealer who bought the scrap will ever know just how diligently each household searched over its attics, cellars and back yards for old iron bedsteads, flatirons and broken tools. All the reward most will receive will simply be the knowledge that one has done his or her duty. The set quota of sixty pounds has little meaning to any patriotic household. Many newlyweds may be unable to find that much metal which can be salvaged and very many others will be able to turn in several times the set quota amount. The only serious questions each of us need ask ourselves during this drive to relieve the critical shortage of scrap for the manufacture of guns and equipment for our fighting forces are, "Have I done my full duty?" and "Did I do it as soon as I should?"

60th Anniversary

Norway and Finland were brought to Aberdeen, and finished monuments shipped from there to U. S. In 1884 also brother Dayton was admitted to partnership and in 1886 brother Hugh entered into the employ of the company. In 1891 he too was taken into the firm. The four brothers remained together until Dayton passed away in 1902. By 1894 Jones Brothers business had increased six fold and need was felt for larger facilities. In November of that year the property of the present location at Barre, Vt., was purchased. In 1900 Jones Brothers took the contract for hauling and setting the massive columns of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York. These columns, 8 in all, stood 56 feet in height. The whole job took more than a year to complete, but when finished, not a nick in any of the columns could be found.

In 1903 the concern was incorporated under the name of Jones Brothers Company with paid in capital of $250,000, later increased to $500,000. Marshall W. Jones was elected president, Hugh J. M. Jones, vice president, and Seward W. Jones, treasurer, which position he holds today.

In 1925 the company began merchandising its monuments under the trademark name of Guardian Memorials. The present plant at Barre, Vt., covers floor space of 45,000 square feet, is fully electrified, contains a modern heating plant and dust removal system. Its equipment is all modernized, comprises a 60-ton yard derrick, 6 overhead traveling cranes of from 10 to 40-ton capacity, gang saws, polishing and grinding equipment, endless variety of small tools and machines, a fully equipped machine and forge shops and a modern sand blast studio for lettering and carving.

The main office is now located at 10 High st., Boston. Seward W. Jones, now 85 years of age, is treasurer and credit manager. M. Walker Jones, son of the first president of the company is President. Marshall J. England, is vice president and general manager, and Hubert W. England is vice president. Both vice presidents are sons of sisters of the original Jones family. In 1907 an interest was purchased in the Wells-Lamson Quarry Co. in Barre, Vt. Substantially all the stock of the company is now held by Jones Brothers and the quarry which produces a fine light and also bluish cast granite, under the personal supervision of Hugh Brandon Jones, son of the late Hugh J. M. Jones.

Foley, Jr., a member of the marine detachment at Guadalcanal, Solomon Islands, stating that he is well, was the first word Mr. and Mrs. Foley had received from him in three months. Pvt. Foley enlisted in the U. S. Marines the day after Pearl Harbor and his brother, John W. Foley, joined the U. S. Navy at the same time. Patrolman Foley is a veteran of the First World War.

Commissioner and President of the Norumbega Council Boy Scouts of America and is at present a member of the executive board.

He is a member of the Regional Executive Board, B. S. A., National chairman of Cubbing, B. S. A., and member of the National Executive Board B. S. A.

Mr. Bierer has the knack of surrounding himself with men and women who are able, efficient workers, as evidenced by the following names of members of his Committee on Public Safety:

C. Raymond Cabot, representing the Red Cross.
C. C. Dasey, information.
W. V. M. Fawcett, Chief Air Raid Warden.

C. B. Floyd, in charge of the Disaster committee and a liaison officer between the City Government and the Committee.

Douglass B. Francis, Commissioner of Auxiliary Fire and Police Departments.

Mrs. Paul M. Goddard and Mrs. E. B. Kennedy, co-chairmen of Women's Division.

A. Leslie Harwood, Jr., secretary of the Committee.

Frank B. Kennedy, Deputy Chief Warden.

Frank L. Richardson, Chairman of Medical Division.

Geo. W. Sweet, U. S. War Bonds and Stamps.

All of these members are, of course, unpaid workers. A meeting of the Committee is held every Thursday evening at Mr. Bierer's home and Mr. Bierer assured this reporter that there are no "yes-men" on the committee, which probably accounts for spirited weekly sessions.

Civilian Defense in Newton has been established over 2 years, and more than 8,000 volunteer workers are connected with it. Mr. Bierer and his committee are constantly striving to keep up the spirit of the personnel and see that all members of the organization are properly instructed, and that each householder knows what should be done when bombs actually drop.

Other plans and aims of the committee which Mr. Bierer heads are to enlarge and train the auxiliary Police and Fire Divisions, increase the number of Blood Donors, keep the public informed, kill rumors, promote sale of bonds and stamps, prevent waste, salvage necessary materials and do everything that the citizens of a fine city should do.

Mr. Bierer said that the biggest job is to improve the morale of and instill enthusiasm in the citizens. He summed up his thought along this line by saying:

"We are in a 'Total War' and to date we have lost: If we do not get busy we will be slaves!"

"We say to the comrades and the families of the thousands that have died in the service, and to the hundreds of thousands, and very likely millions, that are still to die, 'We will do our part!'"

4 Names Given As Permanent Clerks

The names of Marie B. Sullivan, 207 Elliot st., Newton Upper Falls; Anne K. Connelly, 666 Grove st., Newton Lower Falls; and Hannah T. McSwiney of 52 Algonquin rd., Chestnut Hill, have been forwarded to the Newton School Department by the State Division of Civil Service, for consideration in placing a clerk-stenographer for the duration of the National Defense Training Program.

For consideration in placing two permanent clerk-stenographers in the School Department, the division certified the names of those mentioned above and that of Elizabeth M. Macusty of 171 Cherry st., West Newton.

POLITICS WITH COLOR

By P. W. C.

State Senate

Inasmuch as Newton will have a new State Senator for the first time in many years, in the person of former Alderman Benjamin J. Bowen of West Newton, it might be appropriate to glance at the probable personnel of the upper branch of our Legislature.

The 1941-1942 Senate contained 25 Republicans and 15 Democrats. Of the 25 Republicans, all but nine are candidates for re-election. Several of these nine have received appointments to various commissions; at least one, Mason Sears of Dedham, is in the armed forces; Angier L. Goodwin of Melrose is running for Congress in the new Eighth district; Laurence Curtis of the Back Bay is the G. O. P. candidate for State Treasurer in November and one, Arthur F. Blanchard of Cambridge appears to have been defeated in the recent primary by none other than our old friend Edward M. Rowe, who has run for Congress several times in our district. As the margin was only 68 votes, Blanchard has asked for a recount, according to the papers. If the recount upsets the original verdict, I may have something to say about this particular situation. Incidentally, as frequently happens, the nine seats to be vacated will be filled chiefly by members of the lower branch of the Legislature, seeking promotion.

Of the 15 Democrats, all but four will return to their seats, provided, of course, that there are no upsets in the November election. Of these four, one, Thomas J. Lane is now serving in Congress, another is Mayor of Chelsea, a third made the run for Congress in Congressman Casey's district, possibly because he had the last name, and the fourth Senator did not see fit to run again.

Saltontail Vs. Putnam

I am neither an alumnus nor a prophet, but venture to suggest to some of the professional politicians that they do a lot of footwork between now and November 3. There is grave danger that the general public may remain near-sighted as apathetic during the election campaign as they were prior to the primary. In that case, the Democrats who are strongest in the cities throughout the state and who are normally more faithful about voting, rain or shine, may surprise the G. O. P. and give the Governor's followers a heart-attack. Furthermore, for the first time in nearly a decade the independent voters in the state will have a rather attractive alternative candidate, provided they are uncertain about voting for the Governor's re-election. Also, the gas and rationing will hurt the Republicans far more than the Democrats because such a large per cent of the regular Republican vote is in the small towns and cities. Again, the Governor has been in office four years and has made the usual number of enemies during that extended period. In many cases, to be sure, these enemies may be a credit to him, as they represent his determination to do his duty regardless of the political consequences. Political enemies, however, are never too busy to vote and they love to swing the axe and insert the needle where it hurts most.

On the other side of the picture, it must be remembered that Roger Putnam comes from Springfield and there are plenty of good Democrats who fail to enthuse over electing a man from far outside of Boston. The Democrats cast a large per cent of their vote right here in Suffolk County. The 1940 figures show Dever getting 993,635 votes in the entire state; Suffolk County contributed 222,955 of the total. Can Mayor Putnam do as well as Paul Dever? Furthermore, what has Governor Saltontail done to lose his strong Democratic support? He appears to stand in well with the administration in Washington; so well, in fact, that many Democrats were peevish and showed little interest in making much of a fight against the Governor.

Next week I shall discuss the Senatorial situation in considerable detail. The fur will fly shortly on this important front.

One of several new faculty appointments announced by Headmaster Hart Fessenden is that of Mr. Carl Grabau as head of the Music Department. Mr. Grabau is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music and Boston University, and is organist at the Trinity Lutheran Church in Boston.

Lyophilized Blood Plasma Is Now Available Here

Dried Transfusion Material Important Contribution to Medical Science

A revolutionary system of storing human blood plasma for transfusion is now carried by the Hubbard Drug Co., of 425 Centre st., Newton, Mass., in their Auxiliary Emergency Medical Cabinet for Civilian Defense which has been approved by the Medical Division, Committee on Public Safety and the Massachusetts Pharmaceutical Association of which Com. Wilfred Chagnon is co-chairman. This material is used by physicians, nurses and those qualified in Air Raid Emergency, it was announced here. The Hubbard Drug Co. has obtained lyophilized plasma from a pharmaceutical and biological company which collects and processes blood from tested healthy donors.

Does Not Deteriorate

Commissioner Chagnon explained the unique features of lyophilized human blood plasma. The plasma is collected, checked for purity and prepared by means of a special process involving quick freezing and vacuum drying. The plasma is supplied as a dry powder in a sealed vacuumial and can be kept for at least a year without refrigeration. Fresh blood plasma must be refrigerated, which is expensive and makes transportation difficult. In some cities, power failure has caused complete loss of refrigerated blood and plasma banks which, of course, is obliterated by the use of the dried plasma.

Can Be Used Anywhere

Lyophilized plasma may be kept ready for use in operating rooms, the accident room, delivery room, ambulances for administration wherever the emergency demands. The dry plasma is quickly converted to the liquid state by the addition of sterile distilled water, supplied with each package. Valuable time is saved by the fact that the plasma may be given to patients of any blood type. To patients who have been receiving any of the sulfanilamide drugs this plasma is extremely valuable, because accurate blood-typing is not possible in these cases.

The lyophilized plasma has been carefully checked and cross-checked for sterility. Commissioner Chagnon also pointed out the obvious advantages of the dried plasma for bringing transfusions quickly to the aid of victims of civilian disasters, and he advised that large supplies of this material have already been supplied by the American Red Cross to the Army and Navy. Lyophilized plasma is carried in hospitals on U. S. battle-ships, in Army camps and in Army hospitals throughout the country. This is an important service which the Hubbard Drug Co. has added for the good of the community. This is the only accredited pharmacy that is a member of the American College of Apothecaries in Middlesex County.

Staggering Hours Will Aid Better Transportation

Staggering of working hours for employees of retail stores and insurance companies, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and the City of Boston will go into effect Thursday, Oct. 1, to ease peak rush-hour traffic on the Boston Elevated Railway system, according to announcement today from William H. Day, chairman of the Boston War Transportation Conservation Committee.

Under this first step in the staggering of hours, the employees of the City of Boston will start and end their working day one hour earlier. Employees of the State, working in Boston, will start and end their work day three quarters of an hour earlier than at present.

Some employees in the insurance group will begin and end their working day one-quarter hour and others one-half hour earlier while some will start and end their work day one-quarter hour and others one-half hour later. The change in the working hours of the employees in the retail stores group will be announced shortly by the Retail Trade Board.

Under the plan the five high schools in Boston proper will continue the 10 o'clock opening hour adopted on March 2 of this year. This plan will reduce by 20 per cent the number of persons entering downtown subway and tunnel stations from 5 p. m. to 6 p. m. These riders will enter the stations earlier than 5 p. m. or later than 6 p. m. A relief of passengers now riding in the morning rush-hour period from 8 a. m. to 9 a. m. will be spread correspondingly to earlier or later times.

Mr. Day said that staggering working hours have become a necessity because of an increase of one and one-half million passengers weekly as compared to last year.

Mr. Day said that the Boston plan was in line with the directions of Joseph B. Eastman, director of the Office of Defense Transportation, that large communities adopt staggered working hours as a wartime measure.

The present plan of staggering hours said Mr. Day, would very likely have to be extended in the future to include more of the rush-hour riders if, as is expected, there is a continued increase in the number of persons turning to the Elevated for transportation. He urged as many riders as can to avoid the rush-hour periods from 8 a. m. to 10 a. m. and from 4 p. m. to 6 p. m. in order that the service be reserved as much as is possible for those who must travel at these times.

COPPER

has a fighting job

In peacetime, copper meant the pennies in your pocket

But in a war that reaches 'round the world, copper means bullets and shells, wiring in a bomber, percussion caps in bombs, communication lines to direct fighting and to bring up supplies. Copper's a strategic war material. Copper's gone to war.

Copper is a strategic telephone material, too... for the miles of cable from city to city.

There is no satisfactory substitute for copper. . . . That's why the telephone facilities we now have must do until we win this war.

War comes first on telephone lines. Please reduce non-essential long distance calls. . . . Make only absolutely necessary calls to such war-busy places as Washington, D. C., Chicago, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Detroit, Norfolk, Pittsburgh and Albany.

Remember . . . war is on the wires. Think before you call long distance.

Annual Report of Superintendent Warren Stresses Important Help In War Effort Being Given Through Special Courses In Schools

The annual report of Julius E. Warren, Superintendent of Public Schools, released this week, has for its central theme the important contribution which the Newton schools made to war effort last school year. This report shows that the Newton school system, in line with the entire force of progressive American educational institutions, has already been profoundly affected by the war and its swing to war effort has been inclusive and important.

The following is quoted from the well-worded introduction to the report. "Our Trade School operates around the clock summer and winter. Our high school is training young men in strange subject matter sharply focussed at one objective — active participation in the successful prosecution of the war." "The day of the school house dark at night is gone without lament. Through the war and after the war the schools must be places where not only the young are brought together to be educated, but where persons of all ages freely congregate to promote the common good."

The report says that despite interruptions and additional work thrown on the teaching staff for the assistance it rendered in the eight selective service and rationing community registrations, scholarship performances have not suffered but have actually improved. The elementary grades showed a high degree of efficiency in the mastery of "skill subjects," and the high school senior class won more national competitive scholarships than ever before. The rate of pupil failures was lowered and regular school attendance was higher.

Starting its national defense program in July, 1940, the Trade School has been preparing young men for important industrial work. Young men from the school are now employed at the Boston Navy Yard, the Fore River Shipbuilding Yard and numerous other establishments producing war goods. Out of a total of 45 boys who have completed the U. S. Army signal corps training course, all but two of the boys found immediate employment at the Watertown Arsenal. The Newton High School is one of three schools selected by the Navy Yard for training men in defense industry, and the Pierce School has already trained 136 women for skilled jobs in local and nearby industrial plants producing war materials and implements.

As soon as it became apparent that sooner or later young men of 18 and 19 would be drafted for service, the School Committee made a survey to see what it could do to assist in preparatory training, with the result that a Pre-Flight course was added to the summer school curriculum. This course was put on a tuition basis and opened to young men, 18 to 27, of surrounding communities as well as local students. Thirty-three boys enrolled in this special course and were given the regular army medical examination. The total enrollment of the summer school was 186, many of whom took business subjects.

In closing his report, Mr. Warren discussed costs of education under war conditions. He cites the fact that in 1938, school expenditures were $1,529,230.41 and that in 1941 the amount had been reduced to $1,492,549.67. He says that the 1942 ledger can not be expected to show a further reduction and that it will take wise economy to hold it to the 1941 level. But he makes the assuring declaration, "All that can be said with certainty at this time is that every one of our 589 educational and custodial employees is committed to a policy of rigid economy, and that in so far as the school supplies and materials by 11,777 pupils and 589 employees is a factor in stretching the school dollar, that desirable objective is being accomplished."

Out of a total of 45 boys who have completed the U. S. Army signal corps training course, all but two of the boys found immediate employment at the Watertown Arsenal. The Newton High School is one of three schools selected by the Navy Yard for training men in defense industry, and the Pierce School has already trained 136 women for skilled jobs in local and nearby industrial plants producing war materials and implements.

As soon as it became apparent that sooner or later young men of 18 and 19 would be drafted for service, the School Committee made a survey to see what it could do to assist in preparatory training, with the result that a Pre-Flight course was added to the summer school curriculum. This course was put on a tuition basis and opened to young men, 18 to 27, of surrounding communities as well as local students. Thirty-three boys enrolled in this special course and were given the regular army medical examination. The total enrollment of the summer school was 186, many of whom took business subjects.

In closing his report, Mr. Warren discussed costs of education under war conditions. He cites the fact that in 1938, school expenditures were $1,529,230.41 and that in 1941 the amount had been reduced to $1,492,549.67. He says that the 1942 ledger can not be expected to show a further reduction and that it will take wise economy to hold it to the 1941 level. But he makes the assuring declaration, "All that can be said with certainty at this time is that every one of our 589 educational and custodial employees is committed to a policy of rigid economy, and that in so far as the school supplies and materials by 11,777 pupils and 589 employees is a factor in stretching the school dollar, that desirable objective is being accomplished."

Killed in action: 12,910 officers and men of our Navy are reported dead or missing. They were willing to give up their lives so that you won't have to give up your Freedom. What are YOU giving up? Remember, every dollar you save today helps to save lives. Every dollar you spend foolishly is rendering distinguished service to the Axis!

Dollars saved save lives! Foolish spending is treason. With our armed forces calling for more ships, more guns, more planes, any one who doesn't save all that he can today is letting his country down. Do your part by buying War Savings Bonds and by putting every dollar you can spare into your savings account.

To Resume Dance Classes Here

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Champagne will be glad to learn that they will resume teaching of dancing in the Newtons early this fall. Because of transportation difficulties, they plan to hold their classes and assemblies in all grades through High School both in West Newton and Waban, invitations for which we understand will soon be in the mails.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Champagne have given much of their time to the entertaining of the soldiers at various camps and forts around Boston.

The Latin dances including the Rhumba, Samba and Tango will be the vogue the coming winter, according to Mr. Champagne.

Fire Safety Week October 4 to 10

Boston, Sept. 23.—In an appeal for greater fire safety for everyone, Percy N. Charnock, state fire co-ordinator of the Massachusetts Committee on Public Safety today instructed local chairmen to initiate an all-out drive pressing all units of civilian defense into service for Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 4-10.

"Today every fire helps Hitler," he warned. "If ever there was a year in which we need to conserve our resources, it is this one."

Mapping out plans for a campaign, block-by-block, building-by-building, door-to-door, Charnock said air raid wardens, auxiliary firemen, boy scouts, girl scouts and 4-H clubs will conduct a drive to eliminate fire hazards.

"Back yards, vacant lots, alleys, and streets—these and many more 'collection' spots must be clear and clean and kept that way all the time," said Charnock.

Church organizations can be of great value in the fight against fire and tragic loss of life and property which uncontrolled fire so often brings, Charnock said. The state fire co-ordinator suggested household clean-up day for every homemaker throughout the state in order to clean up potential fire menaces.

Fire prevention plays, motion pictures, demonstrations by local firemen and elementary instruction in fire prevention will be presented in the schools throughout the state as part of the Fire Prevention Week program.

Bryant & Stratton Opens 78th Season

Richard H. Blaisdell, President of Bryant and Stratton School, whose home is at 129 Arlington st., Newton, announces that the School began its 78th Annual Day Session on Tuesday, September 8, with a large and representative enrollment of high and prep school graduates and college young people from Metropolitan Boston, New England, the Middle West, Eastern Canada, and Argentina. These students are specializing in the School's intensive War Courses or in the regular Diplomatic, Secretarial and Accounting Courses. In addition a number have returned for Refresher Courses in Shorthand, Typewriting, and Bookkeeping in order to help fill the great and still-growing need for skilled workers by the Government and private industry. It is still possible to register for any of the courses the School offers.

On Labor Day there was a pre-opening luncheon meeting of the entire faculty, administrative, and office staff of the School during which President Blaisdell outlined the changes in courses for the coming year that have been made to intensify still further Bryant and Stratton's cooperation with the War Effort by giving them the training in the shortest possible time.

The Evening Session opens Monday, September 21, and meets twice a week—Mondays and Thursdays—thereafter. A large, experienced faculty makes it possible to operate this session on the same plan as the Day School—tutorial instruction in the major subjects with individual advancement in all courses. This system saves time for those who wish to complete training begun elsewhere, for those who need a brush-up, and for the beginner. Each student concentrates on the subjects he needs most, or he may complete one of the diploma courses in Stenography and Accounting. The officers of the School will help help students select courses and arrange schedules each school day or until 8 p. m. on September 16, 17 and 18, and 3 p. m. on Saturday the 19th.

Oak Hill Bus Line

Commencing on Wednesday, September 23, 1942 and continuing until further notice, all regular buses on the Oak Hill Village bus line will operate along Brookline Street up to the Newton-Brookline line. The first bus will leave the new terminus at about 7:42 A. M. The next bus will leave at about 8:44 A. M. and hourly thereafter until 10:44 p. m. The continuance of this service obviously depends on whether or not the residents of the section affected give it the necessary support.

Harold H. Wooster Kiwanis Speaker

Mr. Harold H. Wooster, newly appointed Librarian of the Newton Free Library, was the speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Newton Kiwanis Club Tuesday. He gave a very interesting talk on "The Community and Its Library."

Mr. Wooster comes to Newton from Scranton, Pa., where he served that city in a similar capacity.

There were thirty members present—no guests. The club had a new pianist, a Mr. Doherty, Miss Hicks having returned to school. President Ed Pease, First Vice President Jimmy Riggs, Walter Hood, Program Chairman and Jim Gallagher, International Trustee, gave reports on the annual District Convention, which was held at the New Ocean House, Swampscott, last week. The September meeting of officers and directors of the club was held on Monday evening, Sept. 21, and a tentative date of December 3 was set as the time for the Rubino concert tickets are in the process of being printed. Mr. Benjamin F. Louis reports that the club's collections for War Bonds still keep up their good record.

Air Raid Show At Braves Field

Braves Field will be the scene of the greatest air raid show New England has ever seen, when the spectacular exhibition, "Air Raid" will be produced at the popular ball yard, next Monday and Tuesday nights.

Members of all branches of civilian defense forces in the 41 cities and towns of Region 5 have been invited to attend the show and, for that purpose, 15,000 reserved seats have been set aside. The rest of the seats will be open to the public.

The Army and cooperating civilian defense officials are putting on the show free of charge as a means of demonstrating to the general public exactly how an air raid could strike at the heart of Boston and how trained civilians can prevent the loss of life and property as the bombs rain down.

NEWTON RED CROSS HOME NURSING INSTRUCTORS MEET

On Friday afternoon, September 18, members of the Home Nursing Committee and a group of home nursing instructors met at the Newton Red Cross Chapter House with Miss Gertrude H. Landmesser, Nursing Consultant for the Eastern Massachusetts Area of the American Red Cross, to hear about the fall program and to discuss the new courses being offered.

Miss Landmesser said that Red Cross has pledged itself to triple its Home Nursing program, and has as its goal one person trained in home nursing out of every four in the country. She stressed the fact that Newton must be prepared to meet any emergency and that home nursing courses should be given to both men and women. Miss Landmesser added, "In case of an epidemic, for instance, when hospitals are full and trained nurses for home care are unavailable, we must be prepared to take care of our own families."

Members of the Home Nursing Committee who were at the meeting were Mrs. Charles J. A. Wilson, chairman; Mrs. Phil Bradford and Mrs. Alden H. Spare. Miss H. Margaret Norcross, director of Home Nursing for the Newton Chapter, was also present, as were many of the volunteer registered nurses instructors, including Mrs. James H. Caine, Mrs. Paul A. Chandler, Mrs. Norman E. Ferguson, Miss Jessie Fulton, Mrs. Edgar M. Holmes, Mrs. I. G. Hoskins, Mrs. Winthrop Lewis, Mrs. Edwin A. Meserve, Mrs. Arthur B. Norley, Miss Charlotte M. Simon, and Mrs. Ralph D. Weber. Newton is most fortunate in having this splendid group of registered nurses, most of whom are married and not doing active nursing, who are ready and eager to volunteer their help so that our citizens can learn to take care of their own families.

TAX SAVING NOTES

Following up their recent success in the sale of U. S. Treasury "tap" bonds, the 2100 members of the various regional, city and town Victory Fund Committees of the First Federal Reserve District will conduct an intensive campaign for sale of the two new issues of U. S. Treasury Tax Savings Notes: Series A-1945 and Series C-1945.

In a letter to Victory Fund Committee members, John O. Stubbs, Executive Manager of the Victory Fund Committee for the First Federal Reserve District, points out that the Series A-1945 Notes, designed for the small or moderate taxpayer may be used in amounts up to $5,000 in payment of taxes for any one year. When used for tax payment, interest is at the rate of approximately 1.92 per cent per annum, or about 2½ times the rate on other government securities of corresponding maturity. With regard to the Series C-1945 Notes, primarily designed for corporations and large individual taxpayers, he calls attention to the fact that these may be used either for the accumulation of tax reserves or as an investment for temporarily idle funds.
